German Forces In Salerno Area Are Forced Back

Left Wing Of Nazi Defense Line Is Driven Back By Allies

ALLIES SEIZE TOWN 20 MILES INLAND
By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, in North Africa, Sept. 21.—German forces on the Salerno battlefield wheeled into a sharp retreat today and the United States Fifth Army seized the strategic town of Eboli, 20 miles inland.

Under the impact of steady pressure from the Allies, who pounded the Nazis lines ceaselessly from land, sea and air, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring swung the entire left wing of his defense line backward to new positions beyond the Eboli area.

Kesselring drew upon past experience to extricate himself from a perilous situation and reform his lines elsewhere. He withdrew from the whole south end of the battlefield to escape the growing threat of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British Eighth Army which is rapidly advancing northward.

Rear-Guard Action
American and British troops edged steadily forward east of Monte Corvino. The Allies found the roads demolished in the Eboli area to protect the German withdrawal. In addition, the enemy used small numbers of mechanized troops for their rear-guard action to slow Allied progress.

There was every indication that another showdown battle will occur as soon as Kesselring has reformed his line in conjunction with other German forces on the east coast.

German prisoners meanwhile said that Allied Air Force attacks had been a dominant factor in the battle of Italy. One officer said his company lost 50 per cent of its men.

Approaches To Naples
With seizure of Eboli, Allied forces came into control of all three roads.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

When driving along the highways, Pa Newc notices that the usual number of snow fences are rolled into place, ready to be erected when the weather calls for same.

About 2 o'clock Monday afternoon a swarm of flying ants descended on yards in the vicinity of Culbertson place off East Washington street with such force that they sounded like rain hitting the leaves of trees and completely covered a wash that was hung out on the line. H. T. Amberson reports. As the swarm hit the ground it dispersed.

At the rate one small brown and white mongrel puppy was romping back and forth across Highland avenue in front of cars in the vicinity of Highland school this morning, he will be a dead dog by evening. Judging from the tag ends of rope and leather hanging from his collar he had broken his tether and left home to see the city.

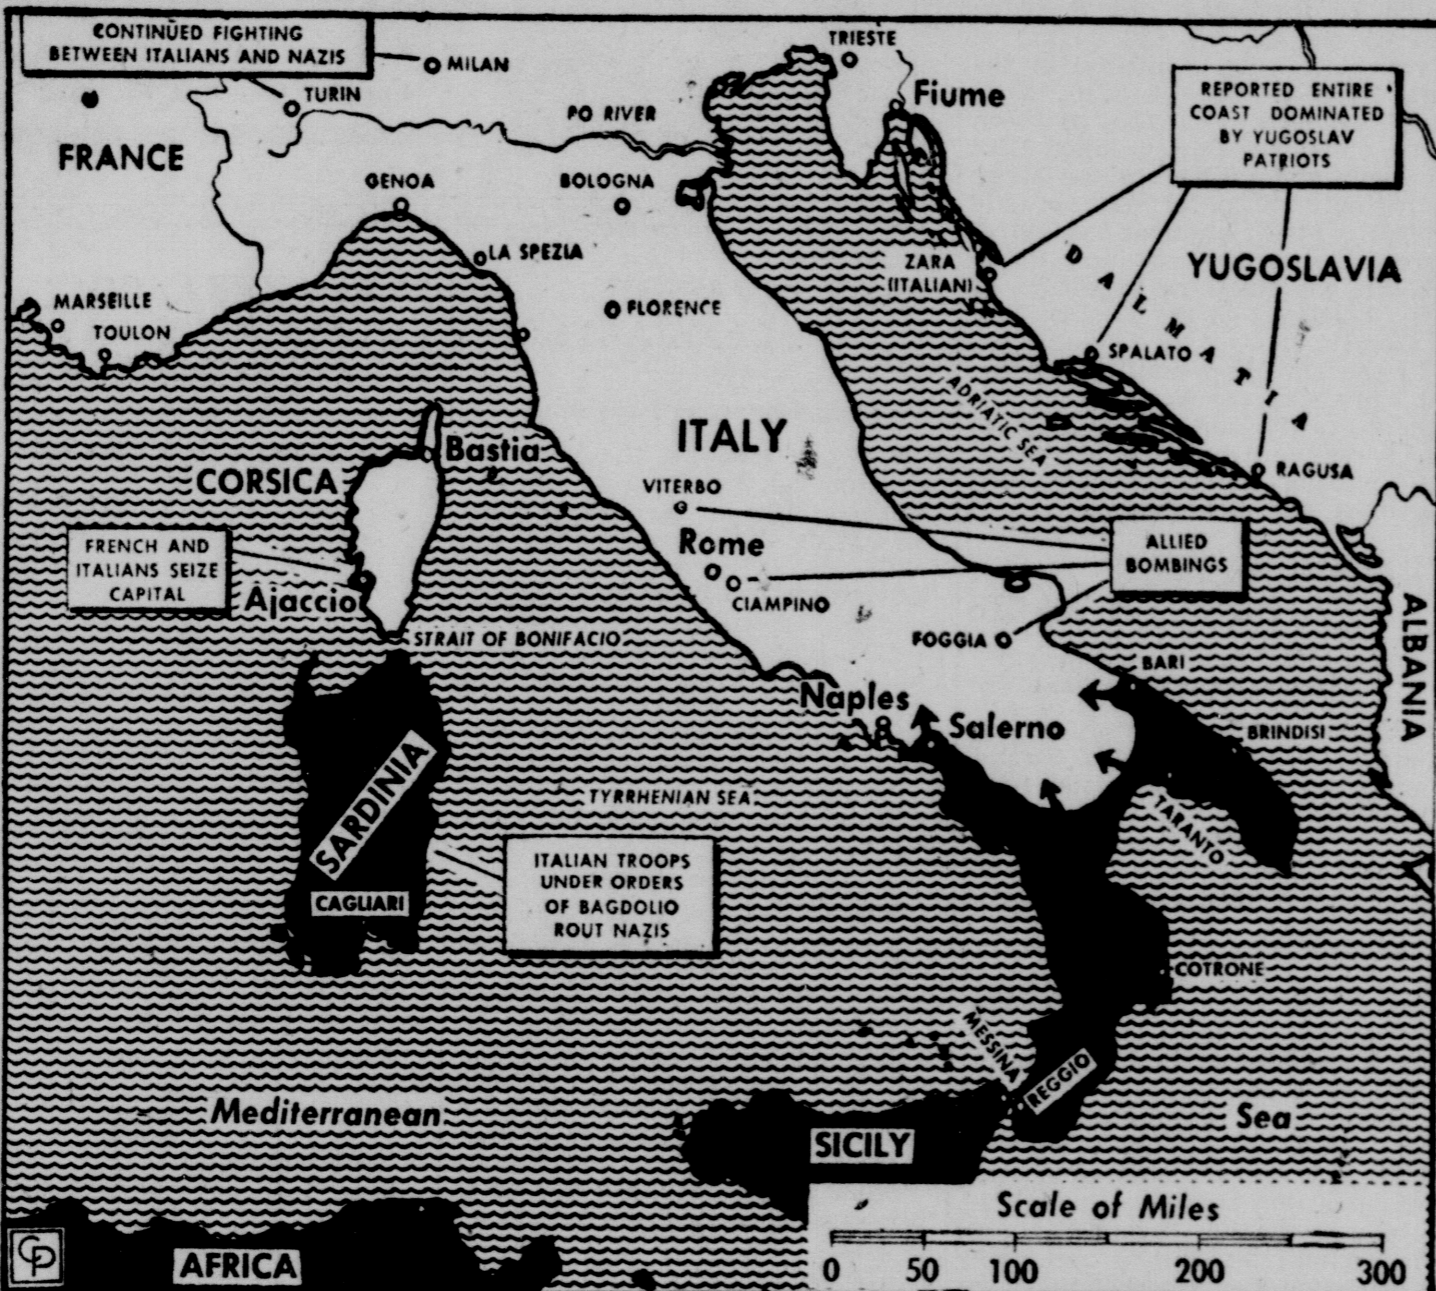

War time will be eliminated in Ohio starting on Sunday for the winter period, and Ohio will go back to Eastern Standard time. This will result in considerable confusion in bus line schedules, etc., for this locality.

NEW ALLIES EXPAND FRONT IN MEDITERRANEAN AREA

Fresh forces from Nazi-occupied territories have helped the British and American forces in their fight against the Germans in Italy. Italian troops, under the orders of Marshal Pietro Badoglio, have forced the Germans out of Sardinia and have captured Ajaccio, capital of Corsica. Yugoslav guerrillas, reportedly aided by Italian troops, have seized large sections of the coastline along the Adriatic. Meanwhile, the U. S. ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 21.—French commando units who carried out a surprise landing on the island of Corsica battled alongside French guerrilla forces today in the first all-French campaign to liberate metropolitan France from the yoke of the Nazis.

The commandos put ashore on Corsica, birthplace of Napoleon, to support the French patriot forces who clashed with the Germans immediately after disclosure that Italy had signed an armistice with the allies.

By JACK VINCENT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 21.—The American Legion opened its silver jubilee convention in Omaha today by making plans to completely repudiate the post war planning of President Roosevelt in Washington.

The 1,500 delegates, representing more than 1,100,000 veterans of World War I, gathered in Omaha's civic auditorium to start what they predicted would be the greatest economic and political uprising that America has known since 1932.

In 1932, President Roosevelt was elected for the first term by an American public that then was hoping for what Mr. Roosevelt later said were the four freedoms of the New Deal.

Want "Free Enterprise"
The Legion, according to its "kingmakers," did not want any part of the four freedoms at this—its convention in 1943. What the Legion and its 1,500 delegates gathered here in Omaha desired was an American system of "free enterprise."

The meeting was certain to cause some embarrassment to the administration of President Roosevelt in Washington. First of all, Roane Waring, retiring national commander, was retiring national commander.

CHURCHILL SEES EARLY MEETING WITH STALIN

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 21.—An early meeting between Premier Joseph Stalin, President Roosevelt and himself was promised by Prime Minister Winston Churchill today.

Before this gathering, which Churchill said he hoped would take place before the end of the year, there will be a tri-partite conference among Great Britain, the United States and Russia.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will represent Britain at this meeting, he said.

"No questions will be barred," he asserted. "Where there are differences they will be set aside for a conference which hopes to meet before the end of the year between Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Stalin and myself."

One of the biggest housing projects yet to get under way here will be launched within a day or so, the Andrews Realty company today having been granted by the municipal bureau of building permits for the construction of thirty-one 1½ story brick dwellings, each to cost $6,000. The project is scheduled to be completed by January 1. M. Dale Andrews is president of the company.

The houses will be erected as follows:
Audley avenue, 1701-1715, inclusive.
Delaware avenue, 1702-1704, and 1301-1303.
Locust street, 802-808 inclusive.
West Sheridan avenue, 229-230.
Wilmington avenue, 1403-1404.
Enclid avenue, 1411-1417, inclusive.

According to the building schedule 10 houses are to be completed by November 30 and the other 21 before January 1.

WORKERS DRIVE FOR

Today's returns in the Third War Bond campaign are marked by two unusual purchases.
St. Mary's school, through Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarter, subscribed $30,000 worth of bonds and the youth ladies who staffed the bond booths for Syrian Day, Monday, reported $23,000, a pleasant surprise.

The grand total today stands at $5,235,892, just short of one million less than the quota, $6,397,000. Some slight rise in the "E" bond sales is seen but not enough to warrant any cheering. The "E" bond sale is lagging yet, and if the quota is to be met there must be more sales.

Sales of the small bonds are not heavy enough per person, the bond campaign heads state. People are buying an $18.75 bond when they should be buying a $75. Multiply this by thousands and the difference is apparent.

House-to-house solicitors report many sales but most of them small. If the quota is to be met in Law-

SOVIET FORCES IN STEADY ADVANCES

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Sept. 21.—German forces at the northern end of the central front battled desperately today to stem a surprise Red army thrust northeast of Smolensk which has flanked and now seriously menaces the rear lifelines of that pivotal Nazi bastion.

Sudden strengthening of the northern pincers on Smolensk was accompanied by new Soviet advances all along a lengthened front as far south as the Sea of Azov which cut the vital Kiev-Chernikov highway, threatened momentarily to sever the railroad to the Crimea and overran more than 1,130 towns and villages in the last 24 hours.

Veliz Is Overrun
Veliz, communications center 75 miles northwest of Smolensk, was among 50 towns overrun in that sector in a new Red Army offensive apparently aimed at Vitebsk, 48 miles to the northwest and main junction on the Leningrad-Kiev-Odessa railroad, backbone of the entire German defense system from the Baltic to the Black Sea.

Other prongs of the mighty Russian drive for Smolensk liberated 350 communities, annihilated 3,000 Nazi troops and resulted in the capture of huge quantities of war material.

Camp Shenango Officially Named Camp Reynolds

(Special To The News)

GREENVILLE, Pa., September 21.—Shenango Personnel Replacement Depot today became known as Camp Reynolds, named for John Fulton Reynolds, Major General of the Civil War. The announcement was made by Colonel Zim E. Lawhorn, post commander, after notification had been received from Washington, D. C.

This military installation had never, up to this time, been given a biographical designation of its own and had been called by the name of the activity, a replacement depot.

With the setting up of the Army Ground Force Replacement Depot No. 1 at Fort George Meade, Md., it was felt proper to designate this Army Services Forces replacement depot as Camp Reynolds, Pa.

There was a large crowd of relatives, friends, and well wishers at the station to bid them farewell.

Shattering Raid On New Britain Island Jap Base

SPEED CAMPAIGN TO TAKE RABAU

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 21.—A shattering raid by United States Flying Fortresses and Liberator bombers on the Jap-held Cape Gloucester airdrome which guards the main enemy base in the southwest Pacific at Rabaul, New Britain Island, was announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

The Cape Gloucester airdrome, at the western end of New Britain 275 miles west of Rabaul, was hammered with 94 tons of high explosives.

Intensify Rabaul Campaign
The crushing blow marked an intensification of the Allied campaign to close in on Rabaul in a pincer drive from New Guinea to the west and the Solomons Islands to the east.

The bombers, escorted by swarms of fighter planes, blasted dispersal areas, started many large and small fires among supply dumps and bivouacs. A pall of smoke over the target area was visible for 70 miles.

Five enemy bombers and fighters on the ground were caught in the withering, concentrated aerial barrage. Two anti-aircraft positions were destroyed and another silenced. All the bombers and escorting fighters returned safely from the highly destructive assault.

Kimbe Bay Hit
Another New Britain air base, at Kimbe Bay, was heavily strafed by long-range fighters. Hits were scored on supply dumps, anti-aircraft positions and surface craft on the beach. The Japs sent up an accurate anti-aircraft barrage, but only one Allied plane was lost.

Building installations at Arawe, also on New Britain, were bombed by heavy reconnaissance bombers which reported direct hits.

The stepped up aerial assaults on New Britain, significantly following up the recent Allied victories at Lae and Salamaua, New Guinea, and a series of devastating air raids on key Jap air bases on Bougainville Island.

Mediterranean War Only Prelude To Main Attacks Says Churchill

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today bluntly told Germany it has forfeited the right to lenient armistice terms such as granted to conquered Italy.

In a lengthy report on the war and its progress during which he characterized Allied blows in the Mediterranean as mere preludes to the main attack on Germany from the west, Churchill echoed the promise of President Roosevelt that Prussian militarism as well as Nazism must be destroyed.

The Mediterranean battlefield, Churchill said, is a "third front."

A second front already exists potentially, he said, adding: "It has not yet been thrown into play. That time is coming."

Churchill bitterly attacked the Nazis for turning Italy into a battleground for Nazi rear-guard "to be pillaged and terrorized in Hitler's fury and revenge."

Will Rescue Italians
The Italian people, he said, "will be rescued from their state of servitude and degradation and will be enabled, in due course, to regain their rightful place among the free democracies of the modern world."

"I may be asked, would you apply this line of argument to the German people," the prime minister continued.

"Nazi tyranny and Prussian militarism are the two main elements in German life which must be absolutely destroyed."

"They must be rooted out of Europe."

"Until this is done there are no sacrifices we will not make and no lengths in violence to which we will not go."

"I assure the British, American and Russian peoples will this time take steps to put it beyond the power of Prussia or all of Germany to come at them with pent-up vengeance and long-nurtured plans."

Much Cheering
This portion of the prime minister's long account of his stewardship was interrupted constantly by bursts of cheering.

Churchill was frank in his estimate of the Mediterranean offensive as a "preliminary."

He never regarded the North African and Mediterranean campaign as a substitute for opening a second front, the prime minister said.

A packed house greeted his appearance on the floor with a roiling cheer.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden proposed that in view of the length

Allied Forces To Open Huge Second Front

Will Stream Into Nazi Europe From West Says Churchill

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Allied forces will stream into Nazi Europe from the west and open a gigantic second front to crush Nazism and Prussian militarism for all time, Prime Minister Winston Churchill promised the House of Commons today.

But, he added, this invasion will take place only when the allied high command is ready for it.

Great Britain, he said, "will not be forced or cajoled into taking vast measures in order to gain political unanimity or cheer from any quarter."

Churchill coupled his promise of a full-fledged second front in Europe with a blunt notice to Adolf Hitler that Nazi Germany has forfeited the right to lenient armistice terms such as granted to conquered Italy.

"When we and our American allies judge the time is right, this front will be thrown open and a mass invasion of the continent from the west will begin," Churchill declared. "His majesty's government will never be persuaded or overborne by unimpaired agitation, however well-meant, in matters of this kind. It won't be forced or cajoled into taking vast measures in order to gain political unanimity or cheer from any quarter."

"The prime minister continued: "The bloodiest fortunes of this war for Britain and the United States lie ahead and we won't shrink from the ordeal... But I regard it as a matter of personal honor to act only with the conviction of success founded on the highest professional advice... in operations of the first magnitude."

The announcement was made during a lengthy description of the overthrow of Benito Mussolini and the capitulation of Italy during the Prime Minister's speech to the House of Commons.

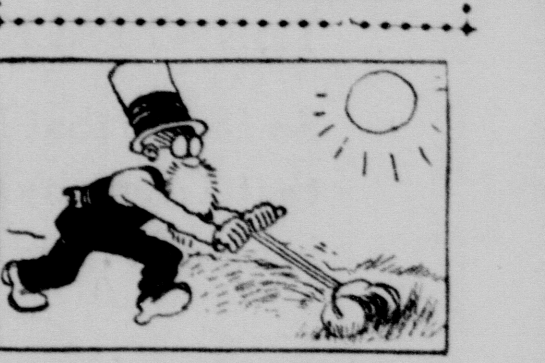

Churchill said it was not possible for the Italians to hand Mussolini over to the Allies before the invasion landings were made since this

Need Land Bases To Defeat Japan

Brig. Gen. Woods Tells Of Conditions In Pacific War Areas

ALLIES HOLDING ADVANTAGE NOW

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The "up-per hand" in the Pacific war now definitely belongs to the allies, but the war won't be won there until we get land bases from which to hit Japan by air, Brig. Gen. Louis E. Woods, assistant director of Marine Corps Aviation, said today.

"It's been more of a naval and air war to date, and until we get air bases so we can hit Japan, we're just nibbling at the fringes," he said. "But to my mind, it won't be so long before we get those bases. . . then we can clip off their shipping and starve out garrison after garrison. We've done a remarkable job so far."

Tremendous Job
The tremendous task of transforming the primitive south Pacific territory into working bases is far greater than Americans at home realize, he said.

"Operations may have seemed slow to people in the States so far, but those things had to be built up and now we have many of them," he explained. "Work in the past has made the current campaigns possible."

Brig. Gen. Woods, who was awarded the distinguish service medal for his activities as director of all aviation on Guadalcanal from Nov. 9 to Dec. 27, 1942, expressed his personal belief that Japanese commanders "lied to each other" with disastrous results in reporting success in Guadalcanal forays.

"The Japs made their last determined effort to retake Guadalcanal when they sent 12 transports, loaded with some 40,000 men, in on Nov. 12," he said. "But those transports completely lacked adequate air support. We were able to sink eight and we found the other four beached the next morning."

"Jap Commanders Lied"
"There's no way to figure the lack of air support unless by saying the Jap commanders lied to each other. There were two big bombing raids just previous and the air commander must have reported destroying us. The same must have been true of the commander of a Jap naval task force."

The quality of the Japanese air force is definitely on the downgrade, while that of the United Nations is constantly being strengthened, Woods said.

The encouraging fact is that the Jap pilot doesn't have the fight he used to, he said. "He can be turned back now. They sent in their best at the first of the war. We now have the larger reserves of manpower and sufficient time to train excellent pilots."

U. S. battles in the south Pacific, however, have been won because "we had a bunch of young Americans who could do their stuff" against even tremendous odds, he declared.

He warned that the war in the Pacific is "primarily a naval and air war," and that the final decision could not come until the allies get "land bases for their aviation to hit Japan proper." We need "still more land bases to clip Japanese shipping to such an extent that we will starve them out of their island holdings," he declared.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The United States and Great Britain today warned Argentina and the neutral countries of Europe that they will not recognize the transfer to neutral ownership of any enemy-owned rights or interests in property in Italy.

Ship Survivor Shared Rations With His Dog

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—Awaiting a new assignment in the merchant marine today were two inseparable shipmates—one of whom has spent but two months ashore since birth.

They are Morrison O. Tubbs, oiler, and his 6-months-old black and tan cocker spaniel, Dinah, both of whom are survivors of a South Atlantic torpedoing.

Tubbs took Dinah along when he shipped out on a Liberty freighter last February, and his ship was torpedoed on the return voyage from South Africa.

The blast pinned Dinah under debris in his bunk, but Tubbs rescued her and they shared his rations aboard a life boat for three days before reaching the coast of South America.

"I had to hold on to her most of the time we were in the lifeboat," Tubbs said. "But she's stuck with me through thick and thin. I couldn't leave her behind now."

leading from the Sorrento peninsula into Naples, immediate objective of the present drive.

American and British troops commanded all the dominating heights along the Sorrento peninsula for a distance of 15 miles west of Salerno as well as strategic islands facing the Bay of Naples.

Dispatches to headquarters said the Allied forces already were within artillery range of Naples but as yet there was no word that the Fifth Army commanded by Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark had opened fire on the Naples area.

The Allies pressed their advantage following the forced withdrawal of the Germans to the north to push further inland to a point about 20 miles from their original beachhead below Salerno.

Germans Retreat

German troops and transport columns retreated northward along roadways and the advance of the main body of the British Eighth Army advancing from the south. Immediately north of Salerno itself, however, there was no indication that the Nazi troops under command of Field Marshal General Albert Kesselring were withdrawing.

The ferocity attending the early days of battle after the Yanks and Britons went ashore below Naples has died down and only intermittent clashes occur. The tension is by no means relieved because of the lurking danger as the two Allied armies and Kesselring's forces group for the next engagement.

It is clearly evident that despite the terrific battering handed the Germans in the battle for the Salerno beachhead the last battle for full control of south-central Italy has not yet been fought.

To Battle For Naples

Although the Nazis are pulling back from east of the Salerno area there is no indication they plan to abandon such regions as Naples or the Foggia airfield and railroad center, 80 miles northeast of Naples. Observers see the present retreat northward over bomb-pitted roads as a precautionary withdrawal for formation of a battle line by which it is hoped to hold the impact of the combined strength of the Fifth and Eighth armies.

There is no denial either that the Germans have been forced to drop back for breathing space after the mauling received from Allied naval and air power in conjunction with the American and British ground drive east from Salerno.

The battle for Salerno Bay cost the Germans heavily in casualties and their armored divisions lost at least 40 tanks to the Allied onslaught.

materials and prisoners. New gains on the Smolensk front ranged from six to 11 miles.

Soviet pressure on Kiev increased greatly with the capture of Kozelets, 45 miles northeast of the German-held Ukraine capital. Russian forces which severed the Kiev-Chernigov highway seized Kozelets only after two days of stubborn battles in which the Germans lost heavily in frequent but futile counter-attacks.

Nearing Melitopol
On the southern front, a Russian column racing west along the Azov sea coast pressed to within seven and one-half miles of Melitopol, last main junction of the single railroad leading to the Crimea. Capture of Melitopol, and the consequent trapping of large German forces on the Crimea peninsula, appeared imminent.

A London radio broadcast heard in New York by CBS indicated 15 division of the German 17th Army in the Kuban Valley and Crimea would be trapped if the Russians severed the Crimea rail route.

Violent fighting continued in the area west and southwest of Novgorod Siversky on the southern front, where the Soviets killed 1,200 Germans and pushed to the River Shov, only 40 miles east of the Dniiper. Five hundred prisoners were taken in this advance, which brought the Russians to within 50 miles northeast of the Nazi bastion of Gomel.

In the Dniepropetrovsk direction, the Soviets scored new gains ranging up to 11 and one-half miles and a tank unit captured Slavgorod, thus cutting the railroad between Zaporzhe and Senhlikovo.

of Sardinia, came in a special communique from Gen. Henri Giraud, commander-in-chief of French armed forces.

Seize Nazi Capital
"Events have taken a favorable turn," Gen. Giraud said in the brief communique.

Immediately after this announcement it was disclosed that the French had seized Ajaccio, capital and only major town on the island, and forced the Germans inland.

Radio Algiers reported that the Germans were said to be moving toward Bastia, on the northeast coast of Corsica, for a speedy evacuation to Leghorn on the Italian mainland. In one of the first engagements on the island the French reportedly ambushed a German column in the mountains and wiped out about 300.

(The Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet reported a dispatch from Nazi-held Marseilles, France, stating that fighting on Corsica was extremely heavy. Italians who had been sent to garrison the island originally were said to have joined the guerrillas and commandos who had received a great quantity of weapons. This dispatch added that Germans who evacuated Sardinia had occupied southeastern Corsica and that reinforcements were arriving from the tiny island of Elba and the Italian port of Genoa.)

McDonald gave chase and, brandishing his service revolver, called upon the fleeing Janke to halt. Janke replied over his shoulder "go ahead and shoot, copper". A single shot found its mark in the youth's head and he crumpled to the pavement.

Schake and Rastetter, meanwhile, though chastened by the shooting, stopped struggling and surrendered to Valentine.

Inspector Monaghan disclosed that the loot of several other robberies, supposedly engineered by the youths, was discovered in the stolen car. He said that Schake and Rastetter are out on parole after pleading guilty to robbery charges in connection with another stick-up.

McNutt declared in his speech that mothers and fathers of America must be prepared to accept great losses.

But McNutt, in the next breath, said, like Mr. Roosevelt and other leaders of the war effort in Washington, that the draft of fathers was necessary.

ITALY INVASION PLANS ALTERED

would have disclosed the intention of landing to the Germans and the Italians were in the position of still having to appear as their Allies.

Premier Pietro Badoglio took very carefully conceived measures to hold Mussolini but did not provide against a heavy parachute descent, Churchill said in giving the first Allied confirmation that the Germans actually had taken the former dictator out of grasp.

"They had one card up their sleeves," he said.

Failed In Orders
"The Carabinieri guard had orders to shoot Mussolini if any attempt were made at rescue but they failed in their duty."

Churchill refused suggestions that 40 days of precious time were lost and that in consequence British and American blood was needlessly shed while a reply from the Italians to armistice terms was awaited.

"That is as all-founded in fact as it is astounding to those bereaved," he said.

"The timing of our main attack on Italy was fixed without the slightest reference to the attitude of the Italian government."

He said the whole operation against Italy was planned before the fall of Mussolini.

"The Italian surrender," he continued, "was a windfall but had nothing to do with the date for harvesting the orchard."

He said there was not one moment lost in the process of carrying out the military operation and everything else had to fit in.

rence county the small bond sales must be shored up for the large subscriptions are mostly in and reported.

One of the first reports on the house-to-house canvass came from the third precinct of the fifth ward where Mrs. J. C. Wajert, Miss Marie Dutkevitch, Mrs. Stephen Cates and Mrs. J. K. Finnin are heading the group of workers. Their total subscriptions to date amount to $7,975 with more in sight.

Bond meetings are being held over the county. The Baltimore & Ohio railroad announced a rally for September 24 which will bring in the B. & O. Bond Campaigners. The rally will be held at 2 o'clock at the junction shops. Speakers will include Miss Julia Orsky, a river heater from the Glenwood shops; Sgt. Dale Borden of Chillicothe, O.; and Division Superintendent John Edwards of Akron, O. R. M. Van Sant, editor of the B. & O. magazine, will be present also.

BACK THE ATTACK BUY WAR BONDS

Just because Italy has surrendered, we here at home must not forget for one careless minute that the road to Berlin is long and hard, and will one day be clogged with the bodies of men . . . many of them Americans.

We must keep in mind, night and day, that much blood will redder the soil of countless little Pacific Islands before we read that Japan has quit.

Meanwhile, the war goes on. And every time the watch in your pocket ticks off one second . . . the war costs $3,000.00!

Three thousand dollars a second! 265 million dollars a day! Nearly eight billion dollars a month! And there are many, many months of hard and bitter war ahead of us!

War Bonds must provide a great deal of the money your Government needs. That is why YOU must do more than buy your regular amount of War Bonds. Right now, while the 3rd War Loan is on, YOU should dig deeper . . . should buy at least one $100 War Bond EXTRA!

The attack is in full swing. At last our side is doing the attacking! And you, and we, and all of us, must "BACK THE ATTACK!"

So forget that Italy has surrendered . . . and keep in mind that Germany must be beaten . . . that Japan must be beaten . . . and that YOUR MONEY must help do it!

EVANS-ALLEN WEDDING IN WILMINGTON CHURCH

Miss Mabel Lucille Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Evans, New Wilmington, became the bride of Pvt. Harold Richard (Dick) Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Allen, also of New Wilmington. The ceremony took place at 10 o'clock on Friday morning, September 17, in the Presbyterian church, with the Rev. W. P. Byers, pastor, officiating.

The couple had as their attendants, the bride's younger sister, Margaret Evans, as maid of honor, and Pvt. Joseph Thompson of the A.A.F., as best man.

Appropriate wedding music was contributed by Mrs. Alan Davis, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a teal blue velvet princess style street length dress, and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Her attendant wore a yellow street length dress with brown accessories. Her flowers were Johanna Hill roses and yellow mums.

After a short trip, the couple returned to New Wilmington where the Mr. and Mrs. Evans entertained at a reception. Mrs. Allen will remain with her parents on Neshannock avenue in New Wilmington, and her husband, Pvt. Allen will return to Camp Pickett to resume his military duties.

Both Private and Mrs. Allen are graduates of the New Castle High, she being a member of the '42 class and he with the '40 group.

Many lovely gifts were received by the couple.

REED-FINNESSY NEWS IS RECEIVED TODAY

Word has been received here telling of a military wedding ceremony which took place in the Twelfth Regimental chapel at Camp Roberts, Cal., that is of interest, the principals being Miss Betty Reed, daughter of Major and Mrs. Jay L. Reed of North Mercer street, this city, and Lieut. John James Finnessy, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. John James Finnessy of Cleveland, O., and former residents of this city. The vows were exchanged on Saturday afternoon, September 11, at 5:30 o'clock, before a beautifully empaneled altar. Chaplain Vernon officiated.

Preceding and during the ceremony, the chapel organist, who is organist of the First Presbyterian church in Los Angeles, played a recital of nuptial organ music, all favorites of the bride, as suggested by her mother. Vocal Soloist Corporal Smith sang "Through the Years" and also, Ray Eberle, who was at the camp, contributed to the wedding music.

The bride was attired in a blue wool sheer street length dress, with white seed pearl embroidery, and a dainty hat to match. Her shoulder corsage was a single large white orchid.

They had as their attendants, Lieut. and Mrs. John W. Cotton of Detroit, Mich.

A bridal supper was served at the Officers club afterwards.

Both Lt. and Mrs. Finnessy were graduated from New Castle High, and attended Grove City college. Lieut. Finnessy was graduated from the officers training school at Fort Sill, Okla., in July, and since that time has been stationed at Camp Roberts.

After a short wedding trip to Hollywood, Los Angeles and San Francisco, the couple will be at home in the Brophy apartments, Spring street, Paso Robles, Calif.

HONOR BIRTHDAYS AT FAMILY DINNER

Mrs. Frank Campbell, of 609 John street, gave a family dinner on Sunday, honoring the birthdays of her husband and her niece's husband, Edward J. Laffey of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Robert Black assisted the hostess in serving.

Both honored guests were the recipients of some nice gifts.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Laffey and daughter Norine, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Blackham, and Mrs. Marie Dickie, both latter sisters of Mrs. Campbell, all of Pittsburgh.

Only Spike Jones would "corn" with tin cans—assorted fire bells—automobile horn and what-not. His "Wild, Wild Women (Are Making a Wild Man of Me)" tells of "those fee-rocious women" women drivers.

Music Maintains Morale.

Back, Beethoven, Brahms are being used as special treatment in many of the hospitals. Attaches find the classics as doses of medicine.

The feature set for October is another trio by Rubinstein, Heifetz and Feuermann. This trio is the renowned Archduke op. 97 by Beethoven. Written in 1811, about the same time as his seventh and eighth symphonies, it was finished in a few weeks time. This is the third in the trio series, a colorful art album.

The lovely voices of soprano Anne Ziegler and tenor, Webster Booth, blend in lyric melody, "My Paradise." This is a worthy addition to any semi-classic library.

MIGHTIEST NAVY FACES JAPAN

IN THREE YEARS—less than two years since Pearl Harbor—the United States Navy has become the mightiest fleet in history. In the skies it marshals the most powerful naval air force in the world—18,000 planes.

These outstanding facts in a review of the Navy's present strength of 14,072 vessels, including 613 warships, of which 333 are new and of the most modern type, constitute an epic of production without parallel.

But, far more important, they give renewed impetus to the belief that the long-expected naval-air drive against Japan in the Pacific is close at hand.

Surrender of the Italian fleet in the Mediterranean has drastically changed the Allied naval situation. As Chiang Kai-shek jubilantly reminds his people, not only our own immense naval-air power but great additions from the British Navy are now available for employment against Japan.

Significant American naval and air attacks, made with strong forces, lately, have struck at Marcus Island, on the northern, and within the last few days, at the Gilberts, on the eastern, perimeter of Japan's island strongholds.

These have been daring operations; challenges to Japan which have not been taken up. The Navy's review gives ample explanation why the Japs hold back. With the huge fleet in being ready for action, and seeking it, vast production of more ships continues, and will continue. We can, and will, carry the war home in full fury to Japan itself with complete assurance that reinforcements will be pouring from American shipyards and naval establishments to back it to the limit.

AND NOW ANOTHER REGISTRATION

OPA announcement that a general registration will be held next month in connection with the issuance of Ration Book No. 4 will be received with no cheers by the public, opines the Philadelphia Inquirer.

The book last put into use, the third in the series, was sent out through the mails. Why the next one could not be distributed in the same manner, without the fuss and bother of re-registration, has not been satisfactorily explained.

The waiting-in-line procedure favored by the OPA entails inconvenience for many, besides wasting hours when time is precious. Registration will place extra burdens upon school teachers, pressed into service for that purpose, and will probably mean the closing of many schools for three days, with consequent loss of class-time for pupils.

If re-registration is clearly shown to be essential there can be no just complaint. But the successful distribution of Book No. 3 through the mails raises the question as to the necessity of resorting to the other methods, which is both cumbersome and annoying.

A MILLION DOLLARS A DAY FOR HITLER

Fire losses in the United States averaged more than $1,000,000 a day for the first six months of this year, according to preliminary reports.

Fires are like strikes. Most of them are preventable, and are therefore inexcusable. A fire in a key plant means production interruptions all along the line. Managements and employees should do everything in their power to erase fire hazards.

A single pile of waste that would have taken but a moment to remove, may, tomorrow, wipe out a million dollar armament concern. The man who failed to remove the danger will suddenly realize that his claims to patriotic citizenship ring a little hollow. Somewhere, thanks to his negligence, a man in uniform will suffer for the lack of a needed bit of equipment. The imagined chain of events as so often pictured in advertisements wherein a soldier dies because of the failure of a worker to produce to capacity, is doubly applicable to those who are careless with fire.

Every community has its fire prevention authorities. They work night and day to curb loss of life and property from this menace. Far too often their task is made unduly difficult through want of public cooperation. They repeatedly seek to drive home the truth that fire prevention, to be really effective, must begin with the individual. It is time that we as individuals realized that.

NO TIME TO RELAX

Things like these come through the air over the wires these days, or are whispered by persons who had them confidentially from authorities they can't identify: The Italians are fighting the Germans wherever they can get at them. The Balkan nations need only the word to rise in the cause of liberty. The German army is about ready to mutiny. Hitler is counting his toes—never getting the total twice alike—in a sanitarium. Goering has reformed. United Nations air raids have reduced Germany to a quivering pulp.

We can hope that there is some truth in these rumors. But we had better not act as though we believed there was. Behind them are the most skillful rumor manufacturers in the world. The secret weapon of the Nazis has always been lies. They want us to act as though the war were already won. They want us to stop working so hard, stop buying so many bonds, stop conforming to the ration rules, stop submitting so cheerfully to the inconveniences of war. They want us to relax.

The fighting man does not relax. The enemy is before him. If he takes victory for granted he loses his life. There is no danger of a let-down on any of our fronts. The danger is a letdown at home.

Berlin and Tokyo are a long way off. Let us face the fact. If we stand up to it, if we do our work, if we each pay our share of the bill and a little more, we will arrive. The way to hasten the end of the war is to work, sacrifice and buy War bonds as though the worst of it and the most exacting part of it were still to come.

If we let down we let down our sons and brothers in uniform.

Even the biggest fellows have temporary setbacks. Remember, the sun, too, goes into occasional eclipse.

A warship has been built in less than nine days. Soon we ought to be firing them at the Axis from a gigantic machine gun.

Former Rubber Director Jeffers declared to a conference of 21 governors in Denver that "We had better handle more of our problems at home where they are best understood." This is strange talk from a man who has just spent a year in Washington.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILDREN HELP MOTHER REST

Occasionally I receive a letter telling me how children help at home. For one of such, however, I get a hundred telling me of children who won't help. To these I send my special bulletin, "Training the Child to Help at Home," to be had by anybody else who will write me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a three-cent stamp on a self-addressed envelope.

Writes a mother of a large family of limited income who expects a new baby any day:

"My husband told Erma (11 years old) he didn't want me to do a single thing around the house till the baby came (because of my bad leg) and that if she and Mary Lou (6) could do the work he'd get them presents every week and just hire a girl for the week I am in the hospital. Erma agreed and she has been doing the heavy work. Yesterday she said she'd never mopped before but the bedrooms needed a cleaning so she'd tackle the job. I told her I'd be glad to wipe down the stairs as I could do that sitting down. I checked up on the work and was simply amazed at the good job she'd done. I usually make the beds first but Mary Lou made them later on and dusted and put clean bureau scarves on."

"We don't have running water here so Erma pumps the water for washing clothes and Mary Lou hangs up most of the things and Erma the towels. Once a week my husband washes the sheets and his work clothes. So I have a very cooperative family and I am proud of every one of them."

"I stay up for two hours and go upstairs and lie down to read and relax for two hours and Erma reads while I am in bed and is rested to start in work again when I get up. When I am only reading, I allow the three small children to play in my room. They just love their mommie's dressing table and carefully open the nice-smelling cold creams, lotions and powder and I let them put a little of each in the palm of their hands and they play for two hours at pretying themselves up. When I need a nap Erma keeps them quiet in the kitchen by giving them two large tubs of water for bathing and though they get the floor wet at least it gets mopped up several times a day that way!"

"Last Monday was hot but we canned 16 pints of string beans. We have two pigs to kill this fall and in a few weeks when my chickens become broilers I am going to fry them and can them too according to the Govt. Bulletin. I've never done much canning before but I'm certainly having fun doing it and looking ahead for winter. My one cellar shelf is getting filled with canned food already and I have barely started."

"My nerves are wonderful and I'm calm, cool and collected and don't mind waiting these last few weeks of pregnancy."

Solving Parent Problems
Q Are there books which aim to help a youth improve his personality and feel more comfortable with others his age?

A Yes. I selected list of such books may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Q Are there tests a parent can use to ascertain the I. Q. of a young child?

A Yes; but only a trained psychologist should attempt to arrive at a child's I. Q. Even he can make mistakes. But if you wish to make a very rough estimate of your child's degree of development, he is under five or six years old, let me send you a chart for this purpose. Please indicate the exact age of the child. Just write me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it; no other cost to you.

Q My girl 10 years old made good grades in reading and arithmetic but failed in spelling. Do you suppose she was just born short in spelling?

A No; if she can see and hear well there should be a way to help her become a fair or good speller. Let me send you without cost to you a copy of my "Home Helps for Poor Spellers." Just write me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Q How may I choose proper books for my nine-year-old daughter to read?

A Any librarian will be glad to aid in the selection. I have prepared a selected list of such books to be had without cost to you, by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it; also a list of books from which to read to the baby and young child. Thousands of parents have already asked for these lists.

Q Please name some books suitable to read from to my children 9 and 5 at the same time.

A There are no such book. Those children live in different worlds. Induce the 9-year-old to read to the younger child. This will improve his reading, reduce jealousy and promote a good feeling between them. A list of books from which to read to the child under 6 or 7 is enclosed.

Hints On Etiquette

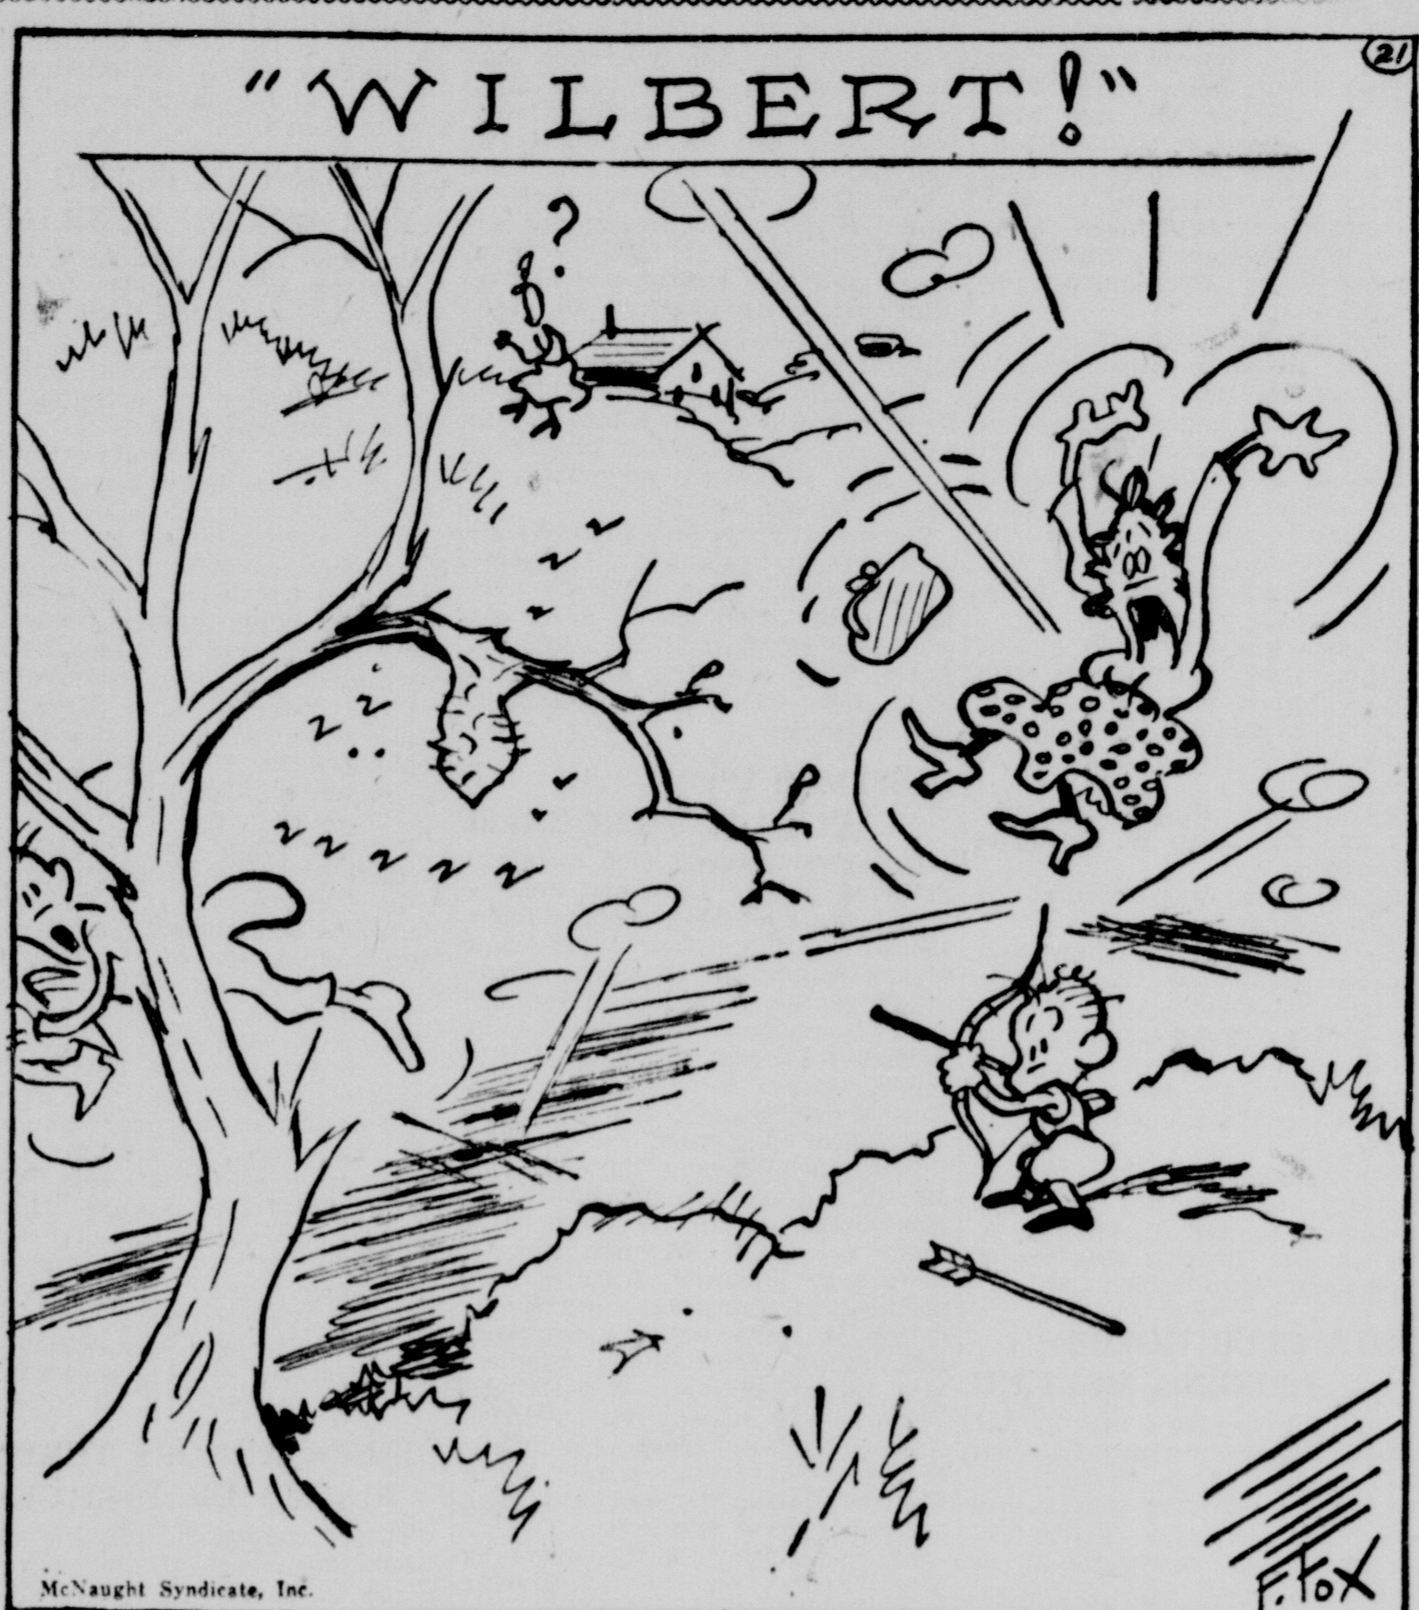

If you go into a restaurant in a strange city and would like to take a menu as a souvenir, it is all right to ask if you may have one.

It really is a people's war. The people demand what is wise and necessary, and eventually the great do it.

Why covet gadgets and luxuries that will be obsolete after the war? Well, we may be obsolete by that time, too.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

It is two weeks since Winston Churchill made his memorable speech at Harvard University where he was made an honorary doctor of law.

Yet one sentence stands clearly out in my mind, and will continue to do so.

"The price of greatness," he said, "is responsibility."

I have often wondered what makes people great, and there, in that sentence lies a better answer to the question than anything I had heard before.

Responsibility is an all-inclusive word. Most of us have, of course, some kind of responsibility.

There is the responsibility for your job, for your family, for your children.

But that is not the responsibility of greatness, not the responsibility Churchill was talking about.

The responsibility that makes people great comes from within.

It is a responsibility that goes far beyond your own self-interest or personal welfare.

It is a responsibility based on faith, on belief in humanity, on hope for a better world, on spiritual progress.

Winston Churchill himself is a living example of greatness paid for by responsibility.

Here is a man almost seventy, a man with money, with power, with every honor that any human may ever expect.

Yet he goes on, always striving to make the world a better place in which to live, in spite of all the evil he has seen, with full faith that man is good if given half a chance, looking steadfastly ahead and up into the sky.

With all his greatness, he is modest and humble, always aware of the responsibility that is his.

There can never be greatness with conceit, arrogance has no place in the stature of a Lincoln, a Jefferson, a Washington, or a Churchill.

Responsibility places a heavy burden on your shoulder, a burden that only the very strong can bear.

Greatness means carrying the heavy burden ever up-hill, a hill which has no top that any human can ever hope to reach.

Greatness may never be yours or mine, but the least we can do is to carry our burden up the hill to the best of our strength.

HOME AND A FACTORY

I grant you for a little while until the war is won.

'Tis well the work of fighting men by women can be done.

But when the war is ended, I'd remind the women all.

There's nothing in a factory that's good for children small.

I know it's noble work they do with torch and press and drill.

I honor them who go to work the posts of men to fill.

But this I hope, when victory comes and all our men return.

The women will stay home and teach what children ought to learn.

The home's the place for children small; 'Tis there they must be trained.

There's nothing in the factories but money to be gained.

And nothing in the factories, however large the pay,

Will keep a youngster out of harm or teach him how to pray.

For when the men come home again 'tis homes they'll surely need.

And wives to cook their meals for them, and friends and books to read.

So this I would remind them all, lest they be lured to roam:

There's nothing in a factory can take the place of home.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THIS FROM TEXAS

Depicting a trend in this country to destroy the independence of the judiciary and to substitute totalitarian-like boards and bureaus in its stead, Chief Justice James P. Alexander of the Texas supreme court warned in an address recently that in no nation has liberty ever survived the destruction of a honest, independent and fearless court system.

Justice Alexander declared that in the inevitable let-down which will follow the war, every institution of government will be tested in the scales of efficiency and those found wanting will be cast aside.

"The courts cannot hope to escape the test," he said. "New ideas from foreign countries will be urged upon us as a panacea for our ills. If we are to preserve our judicial system, which is the backbone of our democratic form of government, it would be well for us to begin now to put our house in order so that we may be prepared to repel these foreign ideas and convince the public that ours is the best system."

Asserting that for one hundred fifty years the chief function of the American judiciary has been the protection of the individual, not only against the lawless depredations of other individuals, but also against the oppression and spoliation of the government itself, the highest ranking Texas jurist said the daily press is full of reports of arbitrary action and oppression on the part of federal bureaus.

In reviewing the set-up and procedures of the federal bureaus Justice Alexander declared that "men are not so constituted that one appointee of a board can serve as prosecuting attorney and another, who is operating under the same orders from the same superior officer, can sit in judgment in the case and render a perfectly fair and impartial trial as a judge."

Declaring that the American judiciary must be resold to the people, Justice Alexander urged lawmakers to co-operate in the task, because "it is much your responsibility as it is mine."

"If we can preserve the independence of the judiciary in this country," he said, "I think we can preserve for future generations the American way of life. As an assurance of good faith I think I can truly say that there never was a time in the history of the state of Texas when judges, from the trial court to the supreme court, were more anxious to give the people of Texas the very best judicial system possible."

And the chief justice is or was a Democrat.

Rotary Hears About Post War Planning Here

L. B. Round Tells What Greater New Castle Association Is Doing

RECALLS WORK DONE RECENTLY

One of the most pertinent talks heard by Rotarians in recent months was given by L. B. Round, at the noon luncheon meeting in The Castle, Monday, when he discussed "Post War Planning," and outlined what is being done for Lawrence county in this regard.

He recalled the vivid economic experience which New Castle passed through during the past 15 years, and gave a little background of the city's past, before relating some interesting figures in relation to employment here, and what is being attempted so that the men returning home from military service can secure gainful employment after the war is ended.

Up to 1900, he pointed out, New Castle was a city of diversified industries. Men of ability and foresight had developed natural resources here, so that the population had exceeded both the state and nation in rate of growth. This continued after the Steel Corporation absorbed local industries.

Then came the last war, and while it stimulated industrial development, competition demanded modern plants, so that our industries could not compete with the larger plants developed under the urgency of war.

As a result, the population growth between 1920 and 1930 was less than that of the state or nation, and between 1930 and 1940, actually decreased while the state and nation went forward.

Beginning with 1929, when 7,958 persons were employed, by 1932, the bottom of employment had been reached with a total under 4,000. By 1940, it had only reached 5,723. Pay rolls dropped from approximately thirteen millions of dollars to four million in 1932, and had only been restored to seven and a quarter millions in 1940.

It was about 1940, following many months of discussion, that the Greater New Castle Association was born. It represented all phases of our community life, and planned again for a city of diversified industries.

12,000 Employed
This resulted in an increase between 1940 and 1943, of 100 per cent in the number employed, or from slightly less than 6,000 to 12,000 persons. Payrolls jumped from approximately seven and a quarter millions of dollars to an excess of 22 millions.

While we have diversity in industry, it was in metals and metal products, that the biggest growth was noted. The number employed in this branch exceeds the number employed in 1929. From 1920 to 1939, we had lost 6,040 workers. We had gained some small industries and others had expanded, so that we found jobs for 1,870, yet the net loss amounted to 4,170. Between 1940 and 1943, we lost three industries which employed 4,500 workers. Probably a third of these were only working part time, although they were definitely on the payroll.

We have secured three new industries employing a total of 3,700, and other industries have expanded, providing 2900 additional jobs, a total increase of 6,600, or a net gain of 2,100 jobs over 1940 figures.

Critical Years Coming
The next four years, he predicted, will be the most critical in the next decade in the economic life of New Castle.

He stated that there are at the present approximately 12,000 people employed in the city of New Castle. It is estimated that there are approximately 5,000 men in the armed forces. When these men return, they will not only expect jobs, they will demand them as their right. They who have suffered in body and mind for $50 a month and keep are going to have their place in the sun.

With the number of aged persons in industry who will be replaced at the end of the war, around 3,000, it will mean that jobs must be made available for 14,000 persons.

This is expected to be done by constant presentation to the industrial leaders, the need of planning, for creation of new products, and new markets. To bring constantly before the commercial interests of the community, the need for modernization and new developments. The need for many of these improvements has existed for some time, others can be developed if we apply thought to the process.

Civic Improvements Outlined
Among some of the civic improvements he outlined, were street and highway improvements, bridges, adequate housing, sewer enlargement and improvement, recreational facilities, coordination of railroad passenger terminals, a city building in keeping with the size and dignity of New Castle, development of industries which will process and utilize agricultural products, research into new products, new markets and new methods, the development of an airport adequate in size and capacity to be of service to the busy men operating the industrial structure of the community.

He spoke of the birth of a national organization in the fall of 1942, known as the Committee for Economic Development, which is an independent, non-profit organization, not an official agency of the government, financed by contributions from industries. Its activities are keyed to the single purpose of raising the level of useful jobs in industry and commerce.

He stated that in the county of Lawrence, such a Committee for Economic Development is now being set up. It is its purpose to stimulate industry to plan expansion. In a like manner, there will be a committee on distribution, construction, and service. There will also be a Community Research Division he stated, because local knowledge and facilities will be needed to analyze and seek solutions to local business problems. There will be in addition a Liaison Division, and lastly a Public Relations Division, to keep the public informed of what is going on.

Guests of the club included Tom Mansell, of New Wilmington; Ralph Anderson, of Bessemer; Lowell Monroe, of Ellwood City; and William Cromie, of Philadelphia. Mr. Cromie, who is assistant professor and assistant director of physical education at the University of Pennsylvania, is an old New Castle man, who left here in 1902. He served as physical director of the Germantown Y. M. C. A., before going to the University, and was tendered a testimonial dinner in 1932, when the toastmaster was Frank Pierpont Groves, president of New York University, then superintendent of public instruction of New York City.

From the service were Lieut. Arthur Sillman, stationed at Camp Wallace, Texas, in an anti-aircraft unit; and William Glitch, who has seen service in both submarine and aircraft carrier, in the South Pacific, but who has lately been attending school in the states.

War Training Courses To Open
Sessions To Begin Tonight At Senior High School; Can Still Register

Free war training courses offered by the Pennsylvania State college and Westminster college will open tonight at the New Castle Senior High school at 7 o'clock. These will include time and motion study, tool design, manufacturing procedures, chemistry of engineering materials, industrial electronics and foundations of engineering I.

Late registrations in all courses offered will be accepted tonight at the high school for the benefit of those who have been unable to register earlier. Further information on the subjects offered may be obtained by calling at the office of the Pennsylvania State College Extension Services, 614 Union Trust Bldg., New Castle.

For high school graduates who have had some chemistry, the course entitled chemistry of engineering materials 2 should be of particular interest. This course provides an intensive study of industrial materials for persons already equipped with a knowledge of elementary chemistry. Those now employed, or seeking employment in chemical, processing, fuel, or metallurgical industries as technicians, production supervisors, expeditors, etc., should find this course of considerable value. This course covers an intensive class and laboratory study of typical industrial processes, materials and operations involving applications of chemistry and chemical engineering in the defense industries.

For men in the machine departments of local industries, a course is being offered in elementary tool design. This course will cover the effect of design in manufacturing, fundamental points in drill jig design, details of drill jig construction, and all types of ligs. It will also cover the fundamental points in milling fixtures design; details of milling fixtures construction, special tools as they relate to manufacturing of an interchangeable nature.

Coal Settlement Is Anticipated
Lewis Holds Out Hope To Anthracite Miners On Pay Controversy

(International News Service)
SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 21—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, today held out the hope to anthracite miners assembled for their first quadrennial convention that there would be a settlement soon of the long-standing wage dispute with the hard coal operators.

Lewis telegraphed the coal workers from Washington that "we are hopeful here that we will soon be in a position to report to our people a constructive and gainful settlement of our entire wage dispute."

The 250 delegates from 100 local unions in the northern hard coal fields cheered when Lewis' message was read by August Lippi, secretary-treasurer of District 1. The miners opened a four-day convention yesterday to consider wartime problems.

Negotiations for a new contract between the union and the anthracite industry been underway since last April, when the existing contract expired. The miners demanded a $2 daily wage increase and other benefits. Negotiations have also been in progress for a new soft coal pact to replace the one which ended March 30. The interim has been punctuated by three general strikes.

Urges Honor For Merchant Marines
(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—Communities were urged today by Gov. Edward Martin to include the names of merchant mariners on rolls honoring members of the armed forces.

He pointed out that the War Shipping Board has requested local officials to accord the honor to members of the American Merchant Marine.

"This is a proper request," the governor declared, "I submit it to the citizens of Pennsylvania with my fullest endorsement in order that recognition be given to the officers and men of the merchant marine and the magnificent contribution they are making in the world struggle to preserve our freedom."

Turkey Supply In State Normal
(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—The department of agriculture predicted today that a normal supply of home-grown turkeys would be available for holiday dinners in Pennsylvania.

However, the department explained, to the bureau of markets indicated that the large-scale turkey purchasing by the armed forces may result in a huge demand for Pennsylvania birds in other sections of the country thus depleting the supply available for Pennsylvanians. An embargo against civilian purchases has been effective since August 2.

Ohio Time Change To Affect Pa.-Ohio Bus Schedules

With the change from Eastern War Time to Eastern Standard Time which will be general throughout the greater part of Ohio next Sunday, all bus operations of Penn-Ohio Coach Lines, serving eastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia will be based upon Eastern Standard Time. This is the same as the official Ohio State Time and is one hour slower than Eastern War Time, which has been generally observed through the past summer.

This change was announced today because the great number of industrial centers and cities served by Penn-Ohio will go on the slower time. New time tables are being printed.

WHY TAKE HARSH LAXATIVES?

Simple Fresh Fruit Drink Makes Purgatives Unnecessary for Most People

Here's a way to overcome constipation without harsh laxatives. Drink juice of 1 Sunkist Lemon in a glass of water first thing on arising.

Most people find this all they need—stimulates normal bowel action day after day!

Lemon and water is good for you. Lemons are among the richest sources of vitamin C, which combats fatigue, helps resist colds and infections. They supply valuable amounts of vitamins B₁ and P. They pep up appetite. They alkalize, aid digestion. Lemon and water has a fresh tang too—clears the mouth, wakes you up, starts you going.

Try this grand wake-up drink 10 mornings. See if it doesn't help you! Use California Sunkist Lemons.

and will be distributed within a few days. All times given in them will be Eastern Standard Time. It is pointed out that to convert the times given in the new schedules to War Time it will be necessary to add one hour.

Also effective next Sunday will be important schedule changes on several divisions of Penn-Ohio Coach Lines, made necessary to make proper connections with other bus lines.

O.W.I. IS STILL UNDER ATTACK

Congressman Charges O.W.I. Is Continuing Menace Of Mal-Administration

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., charged today that the Office of War Information is a "continuing menace" of mal-administration which should be reorganized by a "business specialist."

O.W.I. Director Elmer Davis, Taber declared, should be supplanted as soon as possible by a trained executive.

"Mr. Davis has neither the capacity nor the desire to reorganize the agency," said Taber, the O.W.I.'s chief congressional critic. "We need to put some kind of a business specialist at work down there to get things in order."

The Republican, who led the house fight which virtually wiped out O.W.I.'s domestic service, told reporters he believed an investigation might best be handled through the appropriations committee of which he is ranking minority member.

O.W.I.'s overseas branch, Taber said, is "getting worse instead of better." And he added that his criticism of Davis for lack of executive ability applies as well to Robert Sherwood, playwright-chief of the overseas division.

Taber's division came as a warning that O.W.I.'s house foes were prepared to give the propaganda organization a stiff examination when it comes to congress for replenishing of its funds.

MRS. ROOSEVELT AT HONOLULU

Completing Pacific War Zone Tour; Urges Aid For Wounded

By RICHARD HALLER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HONOLULU, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, in Honolulu today after a Pacific war zone tour, urged a nation-wide effort to help the wounded veterans of World War II for self-support.

Warning that the current war will produce more cripples than previous wars, she called upon congress to act on the problem, pointing out that Australia and New Zealand are far ahead of the United States in legislation benefiting returning soldiers.

Honolulu is the 17th island stop in Mrs. Roosevelt's unprecedented tour of battle zones. She arrived in an army transport command plane after a trip covering 20,730 miles in 97 hour and 10 minutes flying time.

She said her talks with thousands of wounded soldiers show that they are more concerned with their future peacetime life than anything else, particularly with proposals for educational and job opportunities for servicemen.

She testified to the truth of reports that American troops are less politically-minded than those of other nations.

"We should have greater general participation in politics and less looking on," she commented. "Our boys have the grandest spirit I ever saw," the president's wife said.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she had three reasons for making her tour: she was invited to do so by the Australian and New Zealand governments, Red Cross Chairman Norman Davis wanted someone to visit American hospitals in the war zone and President Roosevelt thought her trip useful because she visited so many hospitalized soldiers.

Sub Commander Wants To Meet U. S. Flier Who Sank Him

(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 21.—U-boats captain Guggenberg, who is credited with sinking the British aircraft carrier Ark Royal early in the war, today expressed a desire to meet the American airman who sank his submarine recently in South American waters.

Guggenberg, now a prisoner in the American hospital at Recife with five of his crew, said the American pilot dived repeatedly through terrific anti-aircraft fire to release his bombs and rake the sub with machine-gun fire.

Still arrogant and claiming he sank thousands of tons of Allied shipping, Guggenberg expressed resentment at reports that he could have saved his sub by crash-diving but underestimated the daring of the American pilot who dived as low as 50 feet to attack.

BAR AWARDS TO ACUTE LABOR SHORTAGE AREAS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Seriousness of the nation's manpower problem was emphasized today through issuance of the War Production Board directive virtually banning award of new war contracts in the nation's 59 acute labor shortage areas.

Issued by WPB chief Donald Nelson, the directive prohibits placing the contracts in the various areas unless the required materials cannot be produced elsewhere.

Nelson also ruled that contracts "requiring increases in employment" cannot be let in the west coast region without the expressed permission of himself or a designated representative.

The directive replaces a previous procurement order placing manpower third on a list of five factors to be considered in letting contracts prime consideration will continue to be given to the timely delivery of material to meet demands of the war program but manpower resources, rather than the availability of plant facilities, will now receive secondary consideration.

President Says End Of War Is Not In Sight

By JACK VINCENT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt told the American Legion today that "the end of the war is not yet in sight."

"It will not be in sight until unconditional surrender of our enemies is a reality," the president stated in a message read to the opening session of the Legion's silver jubilee convention in Omaha.

Mr. Roosevelt warned against any relaxation of the war effort. He stated that the best way to help the enemy is to let down on the job.

The president had planned to attend the convention in person for a major address, but was obliged to cancel the trip, it was learned.

His message followed the address of Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, who declared that a system should be established on a priority basis for the release of soldiers now serving in the armed forces.

Reveal Attempt Made To Bottle Up Halifax Harbor

(International News Service)

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—A German attempt to bottle up the important harbor of Halifax with mine-laying U-boats was revealed for the first time today by Canada's navy minister Angus L. MacDonald.

The Nazi effort was a failure, MacDonald said, and the harbor was cleared without the loss of a single life. One small freighter was sunk in an area described by the navy as "dangerous" but the entire crew was saved.

Mines were discovered in Halifax harbor in June, MacDonald revealed. But within 24 hours minesweepers of the Royal Navy and the Royal Canadian navy had cleared a channel 1,200 yards wide which permitted the convoys to move.

The Navy minister said the mines were undoubtedly laid by an ocean-going Nazi sub specially fitted for minelaying.

ATTU ISLAND GARDEN SPOT OF ALEUTIANS

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ATTU, The ALEUTIANS, Sept. 21—(Delayed)—Attu is the garden spot of the Aleutians.

Ask any soldier or sailor who came here from any of the other islands, he'll tell you.

Physically there is more sun, more vegetation, better footing and more scenic beauty.

But more important, there is spirit and history and legend.

The men on Attu have a pride that men in the other islands don't have. The men on Attu are proud of the story of the only land battle in the Aleutians in this war.

Named Camp Earle
They are proud about their pride, too. The three week battle last May developed a lot of heroes and a lot of martyrs. Many of these men have been immortalized for the men on the island.

The army post is named Camp Earle in memory of Col. Edward P. Earle who was killed by a Japanese sniper in the first days of the battle.

The big hill at the back of Sarana Valley is named Engineer Hill, because it was there that Lt. Col. V. L. Womeldorf and his engineers stopped the Japs in their final hour attack of desperation.

And there is a chamber of commerce quality in the pride which prompted some soldiers to post a neat black and white sign "Leaving Engineer Hill."

Old Names Remain
Many of the old names, the names first tacked on to places by the invading forces, remain in vogue. The main army post exchange, for instance, is the "Hogback Ex." During the battle last May, Maj. Gen. Eugene Landrum had his headquarters on the Hogback.

There is every physical evidence of pride. The roadside signs, oblong white boards with black letters, are neater and more decorative than the signs on the other islands. There are more place names proclaimed on signs.

Little Falls Cemetery, where lie the men who died on the massacre side of the island, is perfectly kept. It is on a level plot of ground at the foot of a steep mountain. Its rows of white crosses show bright against the fresh brown earth, which is kept clean of tundra grass. From the center rises a high white flagpole.

Yes, the men on Attu consider themselves the luckiest of the Aleutian soldiers and sailors.

EAST BROOK

RECEPTION FOR NEW PASTOR

On Friday evening in the United Presbyterian Church a reception was held to welcome the new minister, the Rev. Hugh Snodgrass, and family. A large group enjoyed the short program of songs and prayer with a duet by Eleanor and Marie Patterson. The Rev. J. Calvin Rose of New Castle, as a guest, made some appropriate remarks. Food gifts of fresh and canned goods were presented to the family by Neil Edie, program chairman, in behalf of the congregation, as a token of appreciation. Mr. Snodgrass graciously accepted these gifts for his family and, after a few fitting remarks, closed the program with the benediction. A social time followed and light refreshments were served with the social committee of the Helping Hands Class in charge.

FRESHMAN INITIATION

The annual initiation of the new class of high school Freshmen was held Friday at the high school with a fitting climax in the evening in the school auditorium under the direction of the Sophomore Class. During the evening's program the new teachers in the high school, Mrs. Hinrich and Mr. Moffatt, were duly initiated and welcomed with the Freshmen. Lunch was served to end the day's activities.

Figures Prove British Army Marches Most

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 21—Who marches the most, the Army, Navy or Air Force, was proved conclusively here today by the release of figures for Britain's shoe repairs in the past four years.

The foot-slogging infantryman's case was proved by disclosure that the following number of shoes and boots had been turned into quartermaster's store for repair since Britain went to war:

Army 3,000,000.
Navy 400,000.
Air Force 715,000.

Britain's army is considerably larger, numerically, than both the air force and Navy combined, but the seldom-understood foot-soldier today has concrete proof—he does the most walking.

SHIP SURGEON SAVES SOLDIER

Performs Emergency Operation In Improvised Quarters In Far Pacific

(The following story was written by Technical Sergeant S. E. Stavisky, a Marine Corps combat correspondent.)

Distributed By International News Service

RENOVA ISLAND, (Delayed)—Shipmates aboard an LST revealed today how their ship's doctor, recently out of medical school, and two corpsmen saved the life of a stricken soldier by an improvised emergency operation.

The naval vessel (LST stands for Landing Ship Tanks) had discharged cargo and was standing by for wounded marines and soldiers at Sagi, New Georgia Island, when the soldier, dazed and in pain, was brought aboard.

The infantryman, Army Private John Edward Maloney, of Philadelphia, said that he had been stricken with acute abdominal pains while marching with his buddies from Sagi to Viru Harbor. Since every able man was needed, Maloney had walked back to Sagi alone, a distance of 12 miles, through an area taken from the Japs only a couple of days before.

The ship's surgeon, Lieut. Stanley L. Drennan, U. S. N., 26, of Oklahoma City, diagnosed the case as appendicitis and decided on an immediate operation. It was performed in the officers' wardroom, on a dining table, with improvised lights and instruments.

Dr. Drennan was assisted in the 80-minute operation by two pharmacist's mates, Robert Stover, USN of Philadelphia and Robert Edwards, USN of Omaha.

The operation over, the doctors and his assistants waited anxiously for their patient to come out of the ether. The soldier awoke with a grin.

"Hya, Philly," he called to Stover, his fellow townsman.

The anxious trio also broke into smiles. The operation had been a success.

"SALADA" TEA

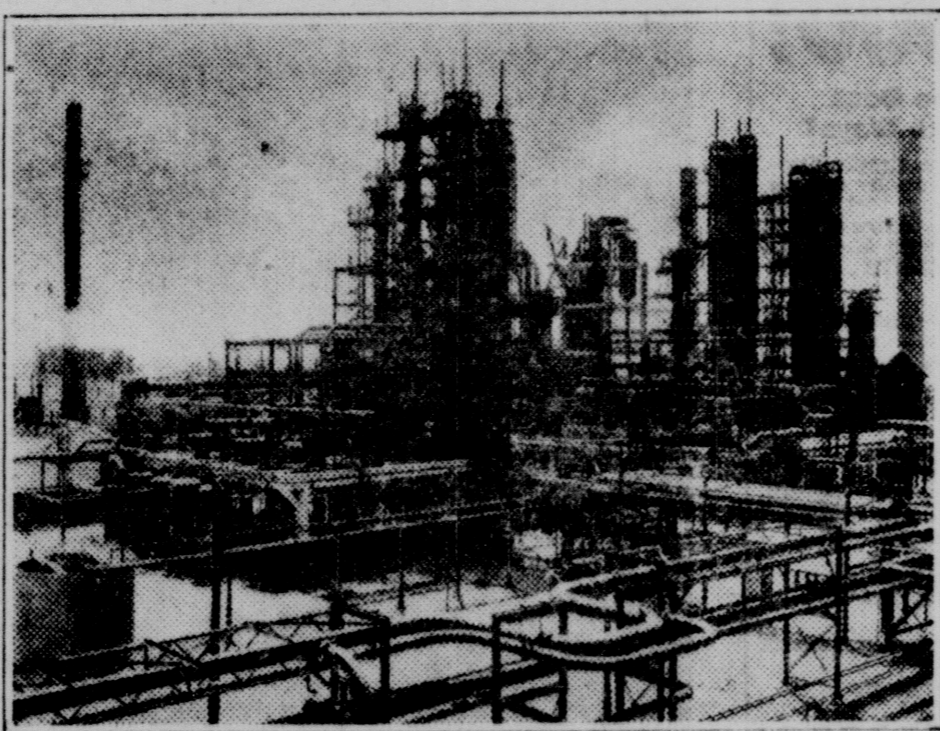

We hope this battle report gets to the front!

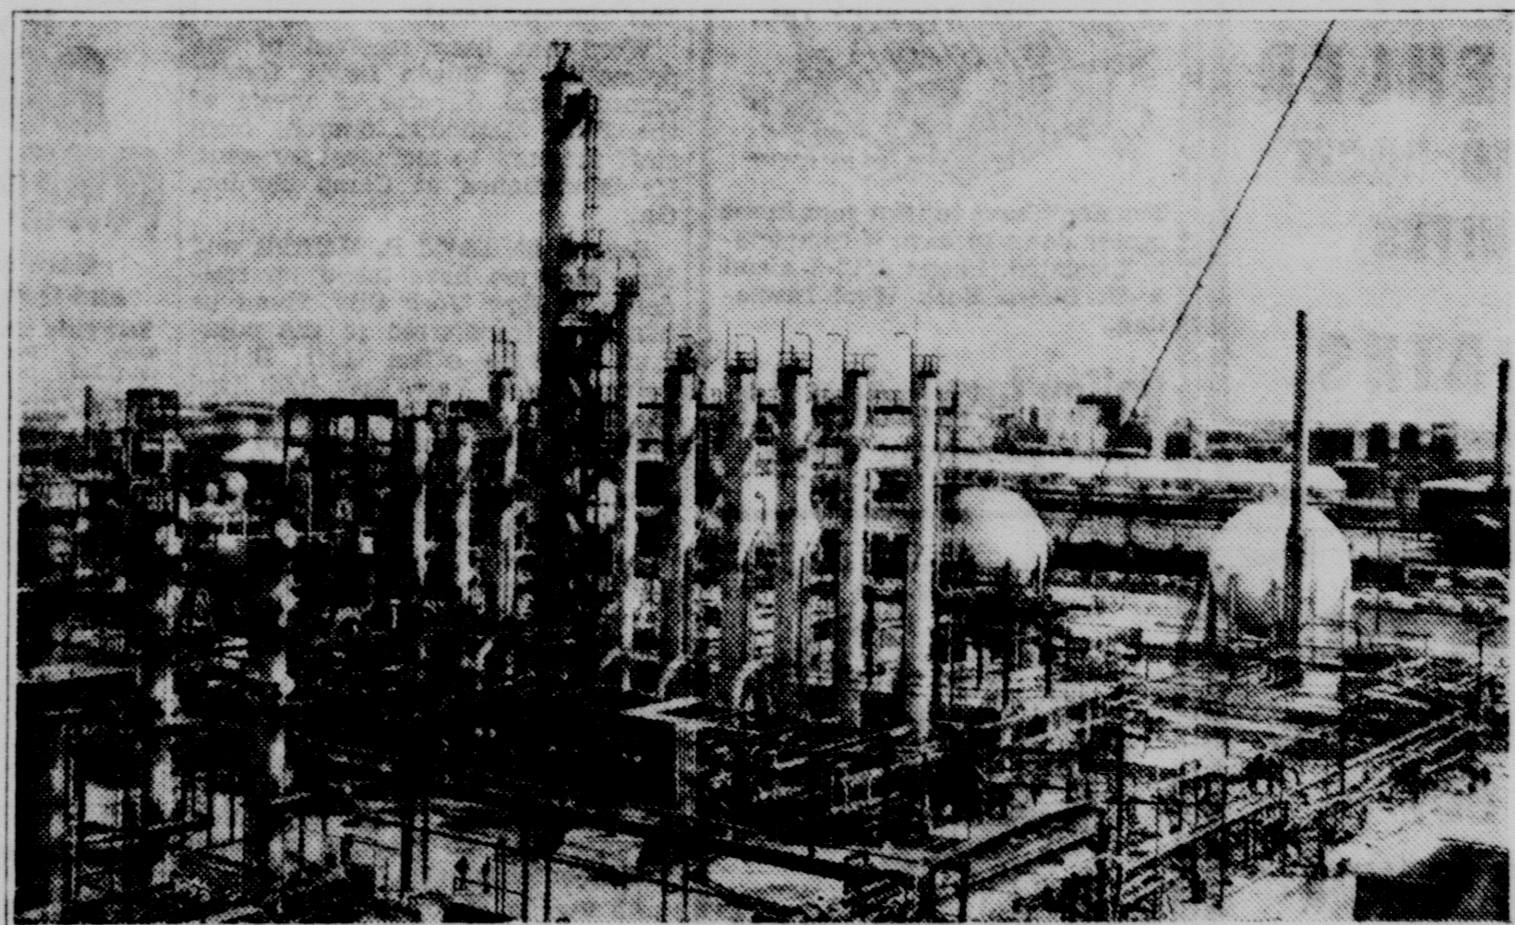

Here's where they make the "Boom!" This Gulf unit makes toluene. Toluene makes TNT. And TNT, when placed in a shell and fired from an American cannon, makes a loud "Boom!" that heralds the downfall of America's enemies.

Another Blow for Hitler and Tojo! This is a new Thermoform catalytic cracking unit built by Gulf... to turn out high octane aviation grade gasoline for Allied fighters and bombers. What's more, it makes feed stock for the synthetic rubber plants, too!

More power to the Air Forces. This new Houdry unit, recently completed by Gulf, produces another component of aviation fuel. It's helping U. S. and Allied forces bomb our enemies to "unconditional surrender."

One of Hitler's pet hates! This is one of Gulf's big alkylation plants making component parts of high-octane aviation gas by the carload. And America's high-test gas helps give our Air Force, the RAF, and the Russian planes a very real edge over the Luftwaffe!

Food Program Projects Given 'Green Light'

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Despite the wartime ban on most domestic construction activity, projects designed to aid the nation's food program today enjoyed a virtual "green light" from WPB's facility review committee.

In recent weeks, the committee has approved more than five million dollars worth of projects sponsored by the War Food Administration. A year ago many of them were stopped because of material and manpower shortages.

Approval was given to nine projects for equipment to recover 420,000 tons of protein feed from distillery mash. WFA officials disclosed that 1,400,000 tons of such feed can be reclaimed annually, with facilities already operating with a capacity of 570,000 tons.

The additional feed augments already short supplies of corn and other grains for cattle and poultry feeding purposes.

WPB also approved construction of $293,000 worth of storage facilities for potatoes. Food experts warned that huge losses were inevitable if this year's crop—expected to be some 57 million bushels larger than ever before—was not adequately warehoused.

Build Warehouses
The program calls for the building of 16 warehouses in potato-producing areas of the country.

WFA plans a comprehensive government "loan" program to assure proper conservation and distribution of the 1943 potato crop. In North Dakota last year 25 per cent of the crop was lost because of inadequate storage facilities.

The facility review committee also relaxed its rigorous restrictions on construction to permit completion of 24 irrigation projects in seven western states—California, Idaho, Colorado, Nebraska, Utah, South Dakota and Washington.

The irrigation projects, originally submitted in connection with a power-irrigation program costing nearly $350,000,000, were halted by WPB last September. They now will be pushed rapidly to completion, irrigating thousands of acres of arid land.

Projects approved for reclaiming protein feed from distillery mash include:

Schenley Distillery, Louisville, Ky., two projects costing $424,000 and $163,000; National Distilleries, Kansas City, two apiece, $105,000 and $1,750,000; Grain Processing Corporation, Muscatine, Iowa, $252,000; Farm Crops Processing Corporation, Omaha, $514,000; Seagraves, Lawrenceburg, Ind., $125,000; Hiram Walker, Peoria, Ill., $158,000; Schenley, Frankfort, Ky., $553,000.

Approve State Resurfacing Of Highway Routes

When City Council convened Monday in the Municipal building, legislation was launched which, when adopted 10 days hence, will have approved the plans of the State Highway Department for the resurfacing of North Mill street, Highland avenue and East Washington street between Butler avenue and the city line this fall. The legislation also will provide for resurfacing by the state of other state highway continuations here next year.

Last week Councilmen Joseph D. Alexander and D. O. Davies went to the state capital for the purpose of expediting resurfacing here and apparently their visit, hence the full support of all members of Council has proved beneficial. Bids will be opened and awarded October 1, and it may be only a brief time until a contractor begins work in order that the projects be completed without unsuitable weather interfering with resurfacing progress.

Evening Classes In Music School At Westminster

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 21 — Prof. Donald O. Cameron, director of the Westminster College Conservatory of Music, has announced that beginning this fall, the Conservatory has adopted the new policy of offering evening classes in applied music for commuting students from the New Castle and Sharon districts.

The entire staff of the Conservatory will be available to give private lessons in piano, violin, voice, organ, band and orchestral instruments, Cameron said. Classes will be arranged at the convenience of commuting students.

It is a sad commentary on humanity, but the ordinary man almost purrs with delight if as many as three people speak kindly to him.

Through natives who learned English from missionaries, he is able to teach the principles of vegetable cultivation.

WE'D LIKE TO SEND

Orchids

TO the Wife of Every Railroad Man

OUR appreciation for the part wives of railroad men are playing in solving the world's greatest transportation problem makes us wish we could send orchids to every one of them.

Their cooperation is an important factor in helping Erie and other American railroads maintain an amazing record of wartime transportation service.

Such a record is achieved only by teamwork of all railroad men supported by wives who understand the importance of getting the job done.

And thanks to the wives, family life is adjusted to meet irregular work schedules.

They are understanding when husbands have been absent for long hours on duty.

To them belongs a big share of the credit for the miracles which are being performed by the railroads.

We are grateful to them because they give us further assurance that American railroads will continue in peace as in war to provide the world's finest and most economical transportation.

Seek To Create Post-War Jobs

Governor Dewey Reports State Is Cooperating In Plans For Employment

MILLION NEW JOBS ARE SOUGHT

By LEO W. O'BRIEN
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey reported today that New York state is co-operating with private industry in an effort to create 1,000,000 new post-war jobs.

"Business must take the lead," the governor said, in inaugurating such a program. "Only the productivity of our system of free enterprise can provide that better life to which we all aspire."

The governor said the state division of commerce has published a booklet, "A Man Cannot Live on Glory," which seeks to enlist the co-operation of the people of the state in meeting the challenge of post-war problems.

The booklet warns that when peace comes there will be "1,000,000 unemployed in New York state unless business creates jobs for them."

Dewey said the state already has undertaken a seven-point program designed to ease the transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy.

"Just as it is imperative, when war clouds threaten, to be prepared for war," he said, "it is important during a war to prepare for peace. The state government is at work to help its people adjust to peacetime conditions and to co-operate for a better future."

ALLIES EAGER TO GET SHOWDOWN WITH NAZI ARMY

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of the Army General Staff, told the Senate Military Affairs Committee Monday that the Allies want to get into northern Italy as fast as possible for a showdown combat with the Nazis.

Marshall made his statement while being questioned on the father-draft bill by Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.).

"We want to get up into northern Italy as fast as we can and meet the enemy in the heaviest combat we can find," Marshall said, in explaining this country's need for more men.

When Wheeler asked whether surrender of Italy didn't reduce American manpower problems by pulling 65 Italian divisions out of combat, Marshall said Germany and Japan still have only 14 fewer divisions than the total Axis powers at the beginning of the war, Germany having created 60 new ones.

Local Gideons Plan Field Day Sunday

Members of the New Castle Gideon Camp and their Ladies Auxiliary had their monthly business meeting over the week end.

The occasion took the form of a corn roast and hamburger fry at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Langford, of Miller avenue.

Devotional period was led by A. H. Robb.

At the business session, Robert Chappell presided, when plans were made for a field day in Sharon, Sunday, September 26, to help buy 5,000 testaments per month for distribution among the service men at Shenango Camp. Also plans were discussed for the Gideons anniversary during next month.

Next meeting will be October 8.

GEN. MARSHALL KEEPS SILENCE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, declined to comment on reports that "powerful interests" are trying to oust him from his post.

Marshall was questioned by reporters as he left the capitol after testifying against a bill to block the drafting of fathers.

He smiled at the request for a statement on reports that he may be "prompted out" of his high ranking position, but he refused to say a word.

Meanwhile important congressional authorities are considering the propriety of a public inquiry into charges that "powerful interests" are trying to dislodge the general.

War Department Personnel Being Reduced Now

Exodus Of Stenographers And Typists, Etc., From Washington Under Way

By MARTHA KEARNEY
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The War Department is in the throes of a "purge" designed to lay off dead lumber in both civilian and military personnel.

The exodus of stenographers and typists from Washington has already begun. Some have been reclassified and demoted in grade, while others, anticipating a civil service axe, have left of their own accord.

The survey teams which are checking up on War Department employees and their work have the final word in deciding the fate of the thousands of clerical workers whose usefulness is in question.

Replacements are rare as the clerks return to the small towns and private industries they left behind. An efficiency shake-up is in progress aimed at reducing the tremendous War Department overhead.

The military purge affects most drastically the Army service forces headed by Lt. Gen. Breton Somervell. Approximately 900 general officers are slated for inactive status this year because, the Army explains, their jobs are completed.

Retirement ages are being more strictly enforced than they have been in the past. Recommendations for extensions of service have been generally disregarded, although popular figures, such as Gen. Hugh Drum, are usually retained in one capacity or another.

Restore Service In Broad St. Station In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Train service was completely restored to Broad street station Monday.

In making that announcement, R. C. Morse, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad in charge of the eastern region, pointed out that full restoration of the station's facilities came only a week after the $250,000 fire gutted a block-square track and platform area immediately adjacent to the station building.

Nearly 2,500 men have been employed, with the work going on 24 hours daily since the fire was brought under control, practically rebuilding the burned-out area. New tracks and platforms were laid on new supporting structures, overhead electric power wires renewed, and the various operating facilities of the station track area replaced.

To date, nearly 300 carloads of material and equipment have been used.

PAROLE MAN

Meivin Benjamin Williams, sentenced to five months in the county jail on July 28 for aggravated assault and battery was paroled Monday morning upon the payment of the costs, paying the doctor and hospital bill and $50 for the use of the county.

NEARLY 100 PER CENT

The fact that only one case was listed for trial in the September term of criminal court should not be taken to mean that the county is free of crime. In all there were eighty cases brought in the months between the June term and the September grand jury. Of these 87 pleaded either guilty or nolle contendere which is practically the same.

CAPTAIN TESTS TANK-CARRYING SHIPS FOR NAVY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21.—Captain Richard Hiernaux, of Pittsburgh, one of the nation's leading test pilots, never uses a parachute, but he wouldn't look askance at a pair of water wings.

For this test pilot put his ships through their paces on blue water instead of in the blue sky.

Captain Hiernaux is the man who tries-out the tank-landing ships, mass-produced at the Dravo Corporation's Neville Island shipyards, before they are accepted by the United States Navy.

Officially known as LST's, the tank-carrying ships, the captain passes on daily have already made history in the Allied invasion of Sicily.

Every "crash stop," sharp turn and quick start Captain Hiernaux has insisted be performed perfectly by the ships came to good stead when the zero hour rang to establish beachheads on heavily defended shores.

Navy Commendation

An official commendation from the Navy Department hangs in the parlor of the Hiernaux home testifying to the thoroughness of the LST's testing.

Captain Hiernaux, who's spent 46 of his 60 years navigating Pittsburgh's three rivers—the Ohio, Monongahela and Allegheny—takes tank ships out on the river as soon as they are able to operate under their own power.

He then runs them at one-third speed for a fixed distance, steps up to two-thirds and finally orders full speed ahead.

All motors and rudders are tested as well as generators, pumps, whistles, fire-fighting equipment, buoyancy, draft, wheel-house, gear, engine controls and all of the other parts which must function to perfection.

When the LST has passed every conceivable test with 100 percent grades, Captain Hiernaux certifies the ship ready for use in action, and it is promptly turned over to the Navy.

The Captain has never been wrong yet. The Navy hasn't turned back a single LST tested by Hiernaux, a record he expects to maintain until the end of the war.

GOURMET MAGAZINE ADDED TO LIBRARY PERIODICAL SHELVES

Gourmet Magazine, sub-titled the magazine of good living, has recently been added to the reading room collection of periodicals at the public library. Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, announced today.

As its name implies, it is devoted to the subject of fine, but not necessarily expensive food and drinks. Noted as interesting in the table of contents of the current number is Stephen Longstreet's lively account of Gramp's picnic, "River of Corn" with recipes; Robert P. T. Coffin's article, "First Catch Your Eel," with recipes of New England customs as well as recipes. There is an index to all recipes in the number. One tasty sounding one is for Tour in aux Tomatoes.

HEARS THAT NEPHEW DIES IN PITTSBURGH

Mrs. Daniel Evans, of 1611 Huron avenue, has received word that her nephew, Latimer Evans, of Pittsburgh, formerly of this city, died Monday morning, at West Penn Hospital, following a severe operation. He is survived by his wife and one son. Funeral arrangements are not complete. Deceased is a son of David M. Evans, of Aliquippa, formerly of Cunningham avenue.

I'M BUYING A USED STUDEBAKER BECAUSE...

I'm a business man—I'm buying a used Studebaker because I want a car that will stay on the job for the duration. I know that Studebaker materials and craftsmanship won't let me down.

I'm a volunteer worker—I'm buying a used Studebaker because I want a car that's easy for a woman to handle—a car that won't ever fatigue me, no matter how much essential driving I must do.

I'm a farmer—I'm buying a used Studebaker because I want a car that won't need a lot of mechanical attention, with manpower as scarce as it is. I like the big capacity of Studebaker trucks.

YOU save tires and gasoline when you own a used Studebaker Champion, Commander or President. That's because of the pioneering of Studebaker engineers in eliminating needless excess bulk.

You save on repair costs, too, because of the high quality of Studebaker materials and craftsmanship.

But don't wait too long to order your used Studebaker. They're getting scarce. Besides used Studebakers, our stocks include good used cars of other popular makes. Come in and see us now.

SELL US YOUR USED STUDEBAKER

We will pay you a top cash price

We need more good used cars of all makes but particularly used Studebaker Champions, Commanders and Presidents. Sell us yours, if you are not making active, essential use of it. You can make a good spot cash deal here in a hurry. And you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that your car will provide dependable, economical transportation to some essential user.

LITTLE CHANGE IN STATE EMPLOYMENT

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Employment in Pennsylvania factories showed virtually no change from July to August, the federal reserve bank of Philadelphia announced today, but payrolls rose about three percent to the highest level in twenty years.

Reports from 2,903 establishments indicated that the number of wage earners in August approximated 1,125,000, while the volume of wage disbursements exceeded $50,000,000 weekly. Compared with a year ago, employment was up about three percent, while payrolls rose 21 percent. Total working time soared three percent to a level 10 per cent above August 1942.

A birthday cake that started a thousand miles away!

BOBBY'S just six today, so he can hardly be expected to know such an interesting fact about his birthday cake!

But some day he'll realize that the flour, the chocolate, the sugar, and other ingredients came from widely separated sections of America. Some day, too, he'll discover an appreciation of his railroad which made it possible for these ingredients of his cake to be brought almost to his very table.

That birthday cake represents a way of life to Bobby—the American way of life we hope he'll always enjoy. Right now, along with all American Industry, the sixty thousand workers of the B&O are helping fight for that way of life. While it is our most important task, we're keeping our eyes, nevertheless, on the post-war days to come—when serving your community again will be the top job on our list.

Senate Delays Draft Debate

Call Baruch To Testify On Concerning Statements On Wasted Manpower

LEADERS EXPECT DRAFT OF FATHERS

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Sponsors of legislation to defer drafting of fathers delayed Senate debate today to make a further investigation of charges of waste of manpower in war plants.

The Senate military affairs committee, which reported the Wheeler fathers deferment bill favorably last July, called Bernard M. Baruch, confidential advisor to President Roosevelt, to testify tomorrow afternoon. Senate debate on the measure probably will begin Thursday.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D) Mont., demanded that Baruch be summoned because of the report he made to War Mobilizer James F.
Byrnes on Pacific Coast conditions in which he charged a great waste of manpower.

"It is criminal to draft fathers when there is the admitted hoarding and wasting of labor," said Wheeler.

See Defeat Of Wheeler Bill Administration leaders believed that testimony of Gen. George C.
Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of naval operations, assured defeat of the Wheeler bill.

Wheeler, however, insisted that the testimony of neither man changed conditions. Each, he said, refused to endorse the drafting of fathers although urging the necessity of a large number of recruits.

Meantime, Sen. Johnson (D) Colo., declared that if fathers are to be drafted steps must be taken to open up war jobs to them if they wish to remain in civilian life.

"I have had fathers come to me and tell me they have had applications for war jobs pending for 18 months and can't get jobs," he said. "The younger men got in the war jobs and they won't give them up."

Give Even Break
"The least that can be said is that we must give the fathers equality in obtaining war jobs."

Senatorial sentiment indicated that the Wheeler bill will be rejected because members will not take the responsibility of denying the Army and Navy the men they want.
Wheeler said, however, that many members had informed him they have not made up their minds. He said result of the fight for his bill is undecided.

Both General Marshall and Admiral King warned Congress that they must have their total forces of 10,709,581 men by January 1 to meet their commitments in the global warfare.

Both the top officers declared that heavy fighting is coming. General Marshall said he wants to throw all forces possible into Italy to knock out the Germans.

Admiral King said that the American fleet would "expose itself" in the Pacific—plainly foreshadowing an effort to engage the entire Japanese fleet in combat.

Gang Warfare Revival Is Seen In Dual Murders

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Martin
"Sonny Boy" Quirk died early Monday, the second in a line of south side racket bosses purged in an apparent revival of gangland warfare.

Quirk, who stepped into the dangerous shoes of the late Danny Stanton, told police only:
"The men who shot Stanton shot me."

This was a lead that led nowhere.
Police have been trying unsuccessfully to track down the slayer of Stanton since his murder in a south side tavern last May.

Quirk was shot in the back Saturday night and died despite three blood transfusions at the Jackson Park hospital. He was a former henchman of Al Capone.

MEDITERRANEAN WAR PRELUDE TO MAIN ATTACKS

of the address, expected to require an hour and one-half, the house recessed for a brief period midway through the speech. This was agreed upon.

United States Ambassador John G. Winant and Mrs. Churchill were among those present in the diplomatic galleries.

The address was the first by the prime minister since his return to England following a six-week absence in Canada and the United States for war strategy conferences with President Roosevelt and other Allied officials and military leaders.

Explains Campaign

Churchill began his address by explaining that the campaign in North Africa and against Italy as preliminary to a main attack on Germany.

"I never regarded this African operation as a substitute for a direct attack across the channel on the Germans in France and the low countries," the prime minister said.

"Contrarily, the opening of this new front in the Mediterranean was always intended as an essential preliminary to the main attack upon Germany."

Churchill said that when he visited Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin last year the Marshal of Russia's armed forces told the prime minister he was confident of the ability of the Red army to withstand the German attack.

"And he revealed to me the counter-stroke by which he intended to relieve Stalingrad," Churchill continued.

"When I visited President Roosevelt in May," Churchill said, "we set before ourselves as the principal objective to knock Italy out of the war this year."

Unbroken Successes

"For a whole year we and our great allies have had almost unbroken successes on land, at sea and in the air," he told his audience.

He then dealt lengthily with allied mastery of the air and the havoc wrought on Germany "which noticeably is crippling the power of the enemy."

He said the Royal Air Force at present is maintaining in action nearly 50 per cent more aircraft than Germany, excluding the rapidly expanding weight of the United States army air force which already is in action on a great scale in Great Britain.

The prime minister said no allied ships had been sunk by U-boats in any part of the world for the first fortnight in September. This, he said, was "unprecedented in the whole history of the U-boat warfare in this and the last war."

He revealed, however, that Nazi submarines again have become active and said that one allied convoys is being attacked at the present time.

In the four months ending September 18, the prime minister disclosed, no merchant vessel was sunk by enemy action in the north Atlantic.

Churchill said that the increase in aircraft available to Britain now exceeds the corresponding German supply by more than four to one.

The growth of the allies continues and "we shall . . . be in a position to . . ."

Churchill declared a recess halfway through his lengthy speech.
When he resumed, he swung back to the situation in the Mediterranean. Of Salerno, he said:

"The enterprise was full of hazards, and German hopes must at times have risen high."

"But we have recovered the initiative and are advancing northward on a broad front. We must consider this episode as an important and pregnant victory deserving definite place in the records of the British and American armies."

"We are coming to the rescue and liberation of Italy. We intend to rally the strongest forces against the Germans and Mussolini's Quisling Fascists."

"We are prepared to place large armies in Italy and deploy a weighty and active fighting front against the enemy on whatever line he chooses to resist and maintain the offensive against him with increasing weight and vigor. It need be throughout the autumn and winter and beyond."

Four Italian divisions drove the Germans out of Sardinia and Americans have landed in their support, the prime minister said. French commando forces have landed on Corsica and are attacking the Germans there.

"We had great and elaborate plans for the invasion of Sardinia and Corsica," he said, "but we have got them in the pickup."

Easing Of Coal Scarcity Seen

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21.—An easing of the domestic coal scarcity, which has developed a near panic among householders, was in prospect for the Pittsburgh district today.

Additional supplies for home heating are to be diverted from industrial plants by the local office of the solid fuels administration.
Substitution of smaller sizes of coal for industries which crush coal before burning it is expected to release quantities of lump for stoves and furnaces.

Retail coal dealers have agreed to limit loads to two tons each and to deliver no coal to homes having two months' supply on hand.

when the methodical destruction of every enemy building will become possible," he said.

Visions Complete Air Domination
"Complete strategic air dominion of Germany by Anglo-American air forces is not necessarily beyond our reach in 1944 with consequences . . . which must be profound,"
he added.

Churchill revealed that Germany is using a new type of aerial bomb to attack shipping at close quarters.
He said it was "sort of a rocket as-isted glider which is released from considerable height and apparently is guided toward its target by the parent aircraft."

Then he said "It might be the Germans are developing other weapons on novel lines."

He paid enthusiastic tribute to the Soviet armies "who have advanced on a thousand mile front, driving before them with prodigious slaughter hordes of Germans."

Concerning the Soviet successes,
he added:
"We must not in any circumstance allow these favorable tendencies to weaken our effort or lead us to suppose our danger has passed or the war is coming to an end."

"Contrarily, we must expect the terrible foe we are smiting so heavily will make frenzied efforts to retaliate."

Ship Building Situation

The credit balance of new ship building over losses of all kinds since the beginning of the war now exceeds 6,000,000 tons and should present favorable conditions hold we soon shall have replaced all losses suffered by the United Nations since the beginning of the war, Churchill pointed out.

In a tribute to American shipbuilding he said that United States shipbuilding campaign "fulfilled all that was hoped for it and more."

He also gave praise to the part played by American aircraft and Yankee crews in the coastal command U-boat hunts.

The lull in the battle of the Atlantic, he disclosed, enabled the allies to bring into the European theater the largest possible convoys to replenish the resources of Britain.

Referring to the Japanese evacuation of Kiska in the American Aleutian islands, he said:

Japs Turn Tail
"Here is a new feature in the resistance of Japan. In place of fighting to the last man they evacuated."

"The fundamental fact in the war against Japan is the steady diminution of Japanese shipping and the wasting of their assets in this direction."

"Japan's shipping losses certainly exceed any means they have or can ever have of replacements. . . .
This also is true of the Japanese
air force."

In a lengthy tribute to the work of the United States army air force in Britain and the Mediterranean, he said the Americans had carried out "many superb actions of courage and daring."

At his conference with President Roosevelt in Quebec, Churchill said, much attention was devoted to prosecuting the war against the Japanese.

"The operations will unfold stage by stage as the months pass," he said.

"The second front is rapidly gathering weight but has not yet been engaged," Churchill continued.

"It is here where we are holding forces. No one can tell and certainly I am not going to hint as to the moment when this front will be engaged. But the second front exists and is the main pre-occupation already with the enemy."

Full of Hazards

Churchill declared a recess halfway through his lengthy speech.
When he resumed, he swung back
to the situation in the Mediterranean. Of Salerno, he said:

"The enterprise was full of haz-

Advanced Course For Nurses Aides

Large Group Attends Important Red Cross Nurses Aides Meeting At Jameson
Hospital

Mrs. Harry Barkby, chairman of the Nurses Aides committee of the Lawrence county chapter of the American Red Cross, presided at the meeting of nurses aides from the Jameson Memorial hospital and New Castle hospital Monday evening when a large group met in the Jameson Memorial nurses home at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Barkby complimented the Nurses Aide Corps upon the excellent work that it is accomplishing.
Miss Prudence Appleman, director of nurses from the Jameson Memorial hospital, was introduced and she explained the advanced course which is to be given to all nurses aides who have contributed 300 service hours. The course, which is to start in both hospitals under supervision, will include special work in the diet kitchen, operating room, delivery room and pediatrics.

Due to the urgent need for Red Cross nurses aides in the local hospitals, a new call system is to be used to contact the aides if an emergency arises or if their help is needed immediately at the hospital during the rush hours of the hospital. This new system was explained by Mrs. Travis A. French, and she told the aides that the call system is being considered so that in the future nurses aides can be assigned to hospital work during all hours of the day, thus improving the facility of this service.

It was announced that a refresher course will be given to the nurses aides from both hospitals who graduated last December and for the classes who have graduated this year. Miss Mary Walton of the Jameson Memorial hospital being instructor for the class.

At the present time another nurses aide class is in progress at the Jameson Memorial hospital, and the capping exercises for this class will be held on Monday, October 25.

Mrs. Barkby announced that in the near future an open lecture meeting will be held for the nurses aides, and others interested, to hear a special illustrated lecture from Pittsburgh, whose subject will be Obstetrics. All nurses aides are to be in uniform that evening.

The representative from the New Castle hospital, Mrs. Dorothy Millard, was present and Miss Elizabeth Breslin, executive secretary of the Lawrence county chapter of the American Red Cross.

An informal discussion followed the regular business meeting.

EVANGELIST AT RESCUE MISSION

Dr. R. E. Neighbour, well known author, preacher, poet and evangelist, is preaching every night this week at the City Rescue Mission, 17 South Mercer street.

On Thursday evening pictures will be shown, possibly followed by a short message, according to the superintendent, Rev. D. R. Wert.
Mr. Wert, who reports that meetings have been well attended, has invited all ministers and Sunday school superintendents and teachers to hear Dr. Neighbour. Meetings are every night at 7:30 o'clock.

This evening's subject will be,
"What Will Happen When the King Comes Back."

REMEMBER

-the BIG invasion days are yet to come!

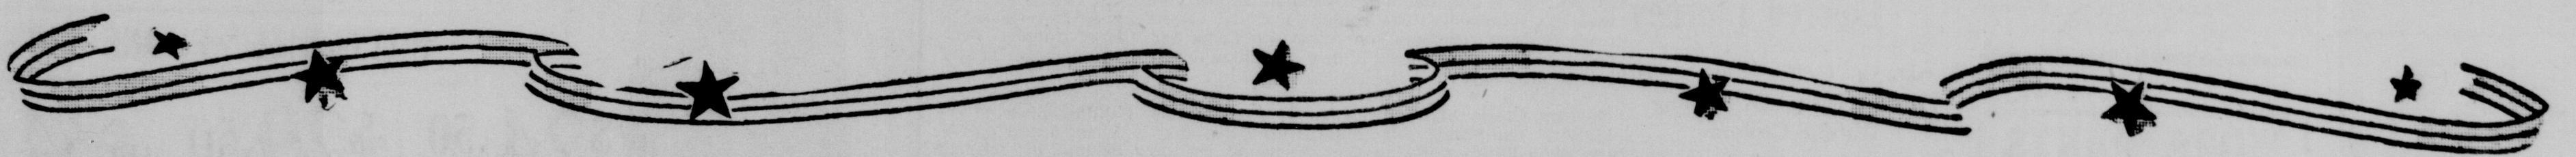

ITALY has fallen - but the war is not over and YOU know it! Think of Berlin and Tokio - think of the men dying AT THIS MOMENT.

Can WE, you and I, afford to let them down - to turn THEIR battlefield victory into a homefront defeat? Let's buy MORE War Bonds than ever . . . let's back up THEIR victory with OURS - the success of the Third War Loan!

There are battles coming - tough, bloody, hard-to-win battles - before this war is over. And it's the last battle that counts. We've GOT to back up our fighting men . . . we've GOT to buy War Bonds with every dollar, every dime we can scrape up.

Our fighting men will do THEIR job - it's up to YOU, personally, to keep their victories safe BY BUYING WAR BONDS NOW with every dollar you can - not with what you'd ordinarily save or invest, but MORE - every bit more you can manage.

Softball Series Tied; UEF Tops Bronze, 9-7 In Slugfest Monday

All that blasting you heard around Gaston Park last night, if you happened to be in that vicinity, was nothing more than baseballs rattling off the bats of Johnson Bronze-United Engineering Softballers.

By the time the smoke cleared and more than 1,000 excited spectators started heading homeward, the United representatives had bagged a 9-7 decision to deadlock the current five-game series for the industrial diadem.

Bronzers Lead
The Bronzers hopped on Liposky for two runs in the first. In the third however, the UEF found the solution to Kendra's pitching puzzle and knocked around three markers.

Everything was serene until the sixth. Then, the fun started. The Bronzers looked like they were riding a merry-go-round as they pushed across five runs. As the bottom half of the sixth started, the end of the series seemed a matter of minutes.

The UEF, however, pressed the merry-go-round switch and turned it off only after garnering a half dozen runs. Liposky checked the Bronzers in the seventh.

Game Thrilling
From the spectators' standpoint, the clash was one of the most thrilling ever witnessed here. Extra base blows were as free as air with DiCaprio, Mamie Morelli and Liposky bouncing doubles; Morelli poked a triple and Merando paddled a homer.

Morelli smashed three hits for the UEF, a single, double and triple. Raymond and Liposky chipped in with two hits apiece. Merando's homer and Turco's pair of one-baggers paced the losers' attack.

Sammy Bullano's fielding flashed like a beacon for the winning side. The championship clash will be played on Wednesday night at 5:45 o'clock at Gaston Park.

Jockey Barney's Condition Serious

(International News Service)
MILWAUKEE, Sept. 21.—The condition of Jockey Lawrence Barney was reported still critical today as result of an injury suffered when he was thrown from his mount, Meandou, in the sixth race at Hawthorne Friday. He suffered a basal skull fracture, physicians at Bethany Hospital said.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

A million decks of playing cards to the boys overseas is the aim of the Bowlers Victory League in its 1943 campaign which is just getting under way. It's a timely campaign, too, because the War Department just notified the BVL officials that there is a crying need for cards among the men in the armed forces.

That the bowlers back home appreciate the appeal is being demonstrated every day as bowling leagues hold their annual reorganizing meetings. The Bowlers Victory League notified bowlers of its plans on July 20. While less than 1 percent of the leagues in the country held meetings during August, the BVL has been notified of unanimous acceptance to the Overseas Recreation fund, Rio Nido, Cal., Milwaukee, Philadelphia, Dayton, Ia., Cincinnati, Hackensack, N. J., Flint, Mich., Detroit, Atlanta and Peoria leagues already have "kicked in" to the fund, according to the A. B. C.

Jake Mintz, Pittsburgh boxing match-maker, howled the traditional "we were robbed" cry of the ring and has booked himself a big court fight. Mintz, defeated in last week's primaries for the Republican nomination as constable of Pittsburgh's fourteenth ward, charged today his successful opponent, incumbent constable Thomas Jones, was improper in permitting to help count the balance. The boxing promoter asserted he intended to seek an injunction in court invalidating Jones' nomination.

Pittsburgh district boxing fans will get their first look at Jimmy Bivins, "duration" heavy weight champion at Forbes field on September 27 when he meets Curtis Sheppard, the "Hatchet Man" in a ten-round feature number. Bivins has fought in Pittsburgh before, but this is the first time in two years that he has shown there and will mark his initial appearance since he gained the honor of being the country's outstanding heavyweight in action today.

Pittsburgh Golfer Shoots 78 To Pace Group Of Leading District Golfers

Everett Wilson, of Pittsburgh, won the Beaver Valley Golf Association title at Sylvan Heights course, Sunday, when he defeated 25 of the cream of the colored golfers from Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, shooting a 78.

He was presented with a United States War Bond by Dr. George W. Garnett, chairman of the tourney arrangements.

The field was somewhat smaller this year, due to wartime restrictions but the competition was extremely keen, despite this fact.

By LEWIS BURTON

Service Teams Not As Powerful As Last Season

Iowa Pre-Flight Ranked No. 1; Great Lakes' Manpower Below 1942 Standard

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—As in 1942, the country will have an abundance of service football teams which will make their presence felt on college schedules. But their threat to the colleges is not as extensive nor as forceful, it seems at this date, as a year ago.

The service "varsities" most likely to create confusion in inter-collegiate circles are Camp Grant, Ill., Great Lakes Naval Training Station, the 4th Air Force fliers of March Field, Calif., and the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school. In each case they have the two necessary prerequisites namely, the scheduled opponents and players.

Portions Cut Down

A year ago, however, stars were present in greater quantities at navy institutions than they are today—particularly at the pre-flight schools. The explanation was frank. It was a problem in procurement; or to put it another way, in advertising. The pre-flight schools and training stations wanted to attract attention.

Sampson (N. Y.) naval training station has the same idea now, but it isn't moving into college circles. Under Lt.-Com. Mal Stevens a strong team is believed developed enough to harass the pros.

Camp Grant has a backfield composed of their own veteran quarterback, Reino Nori, who saw action with the Chicago Bears; Corwin Clatt of Notre Dame, fullback; Jimmy Dewar, Indiana, tailback; and Tony Stort, Stout Institute, wingback.

March field has such players as Corp. Jimmy Nelson of Alabama, Corp. Joe Williams of Ohio State, Sgt. Bob DeBruiter of Nebraska, Corp. Woody Strode of U. C. L. A., and Sgt. Frank Emmons of Oregon. This may well be the strongest service team in the country.

Great Lakes, coached by Lt. Tony Hinkle, hasn't anything like the illustrious manpower of '42. True, the backfield includes Steve Juzwik, Notre Dame; Buist Warren, Tennessee; Paul Anderson, Western Reserve; and Ken Roski, South Carolina, but a symbol of what has happened to the line is to be found at the center position. Instead of Rudy Mucha at center, they have 18-year-old Ed Shaytovich, recently a frosh at U. of Nevada.

Iowa Card Staff

Iowa pre-flight has the boldest of the pre-flight schedules, with five big games, Notre Dame, Missouri, Ohio State, Marquette and Camp Grant.

Because of that program it can make itself felt among the colleges, but there is one handicap which the pre-flights have in common this year that they didn't have in '42. They aren't using officers in the lineups any more. It's strictly underdog, and with the limited time available not much progress is likely to be made—and that goes for Georgia, North Carolina, St. Mary's and Del Monte pre-flights.

Ex. Riley, Kas., which with Camp Grant and Fort Knox, was the Army's Big Three last year, has a team built around Capt. Ben Sheridan, ex-Notre Dame, and Benny Ford, Mississippi, half-backs.

CATHOLIC GRID LEAGUE OPENERS LISTED SATURDAY

New Castle's Catholic grade school football loop openers are listed for Saturday. St. Mary's will play St. Vitus and St. Joseph will tangle with St. Michael.

The complete schedule, announced today by the Rev. Fr. Francis P. King of St. Mary's church, follows:

September 25—St. Mary vs. St. Vitus.
September 25—St. Joseph vs. St. Michael.
October 2—St. Mary vs. St. Michael.
October 2—St. Vitus vs. St. Joseph.
October 9—St. Mary vs. St. Joseph.
October 9—St. Vitus vs. St. Michael.
October 16—St. Mary vs. St. Vitus.
October 16—St. Joseph vs. St. Michael.
October 23—St. Mary vs. St. Michael.
October 23—St. Vitus vs. St. Joseph.
October 30—St. Mary vs. St. Joseph.
October 30—St. Michael vs. St. Vitus.
November 6—St. Vitus vs. St. Mary.
November 6—St. Michael vs. St. Joseph.
November 13—St. Michael vs. St. Mary.
November 13—St. Joseph vs. St. Vitus.
November 20—St. Joseph vs. St. Mary.
November 20—St. Michael vs. St. Vitus.
All games will begin at 10:00 a. m., at Washington Field.

But Not Tokyo This Time

Announcement that an all-star major league team will tour the Pacific war front recalls to mind other barnstorming tours made by American baseball players. The last, in 1935, was led by Connie Mack, and the players toured the Orient, with Tokyo, Japan, one of their most important stops. The picture above shows Mack, wearing glasses, autographing baseballs for two Japanese players in the dugout of a Tokyo ball park. First barnstorming tour out of the United States was led by Al Spalding in 1888, with two clubs traveling to Hawaii, Australia, Ceylon, Egypt, Italy, France and England. In 1912-14 another ball trip was made to foreign lands under auspices of Charles Comiskey, late president of the Chicago Americans, and John McGraw, late manager of New York Nationals.

Skladany Named New Tech Coach

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21.—Joseph Peter (Muggsy) Skladany, A. C. (A) Irwin, and C. Kermit (Buck) Ewing were officially listed as football coaches today on the Carnegie Tech payroll today.

Skladany, as head tutor, replaces Dr. Eddie Baker, now in the naval reserve and stationed at Del Monte, Cal. The trio have been directing practice of the plaid gridders in Skibo bowl since September 1, but actual confirmation of their selection as coaches came yesterday from the board of trustees.

Al Irvin, a Washington, Pa., high school star, will be starting his twenty-first season of active participation at Carnegie Tech football. He was the regular Tartan center from 1919 through 1922.

Ewing from Coropolis, played half-back in his undergraduate days, a frosh at U. of Nevada.

Louis Concludes Tour Of Eastern Camps Monday

TRANSFER Sept. 21.—Several thousand soldiers and a few hundred civilians grouped around Camp Reynolds' outdoor arena Monday night to witness the exhibition match staged by World Champion Sgt. Joe Louis and George Nichols.

For three rounds, the champ and his sparring mate for the past seven years pounded each other with 16-ounce gloves. As an added attraction, "Sugar" Robinson, welterweight king, served as third man.

Preceding the Louis' exhibition, camp soldiers unfurled six usually scrappy tussles.

This marked Louis' final appearance in eastern camps.

Union-Ursuline To Play Friday On Local Field

Union Township high officials today announced that Ursuline High of Youngstown has been scheduled for a game on Union field.

The clash will be played Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Sports Ramblings

Keyboard melody in double time:—

Westminster college is assured of at least one holdover from last season. He is Don Bennett, sophomore flipper from East Liverpool, Ohio, who has returned to the campus and the classrooms after receiving a medical discharge from the Army Air Corps for allergy-trouble.

Bennett's return, along with a new freshman crop, brightens the Titans' basketball hopes . . .

New Castle jolly Phillips measures exactly 5 feet 5 and pushes the scale hands down to the 235 pound reading. Besides his football chores, Phillips is a star member of the school band . . . Sgt. Charles "Buzz" Ried, ex-Westminster cage ace, is attending officers' candidate school at Camp Lee, Virginia . . .

Ignoring the fact that basketball is a few months away, athletic-minded employees of various local industrial plants are forming plans for a cage loop . . . To K. T.: Beaver Falls has never beaten a Phil Bridenbaugh coached eleven. The Tigers last scored on New Castle bench in 1927, registering a half dozen points . . .

Addenda: With another world series about to descend on the sports scene, it seems apropos to mention that Lou Gehrig established a 361 batting average, the all-time high. He participated in 34 series tiffs and batted in 35 runs . . . At 36, Bill Dickey will be backstopping in his eighth series. The Yankee favorite has piled up a 252 batting mark in 33 frays . . .

Lanky Bill Tilden, the tennis great, is teaching the game in a small west coast club and doing well . . . The University of Washington can't report a beef shortage. Don Deeks and Cliff Griffin, up front men, combined weight 496 pounds! . . . Ole Cholly Root, doing double duty as player-manager for Hollywood, won 15 and lost 5 this season . . .

Purdue Eleven Team To Beat In Big 10 Loop

Boilermakers Display Poise, Power And Smooth "T" Against Great Lakes Stars

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—There's really no valid call today to climb out on a cross-piece with a lot of guff this early in the game, just because Purdue and Elmer Burnham took the swaddling clothes off a surprisingly good looking football team against Great Lakes.

Yet it's difficult to resist the feeling that here may be the outfit they'll all have to beat in the Big Ten, even Michigan, the raven-noted team which blustered right on through a supposedly well heeled entry from Camp Grant, and Northwestern, which has yet to show.

It's not impossible, in fact, to think of Purdue in terms of national, as well as sectional significance. . . . Provided its development is wholly in character with its first promise.

Mas Poise, Power
It has poise, or had on Saturday. It goes at things with tremendous gusto, alike on defense and in its downfield blocking. It is, all told, tougher than a night on a window ledge (or, at least, it was 48 hours ago) and its technique with the "T" is something it comes by naturally, since Jim Darr and Sam Bacont, the quarter-backs are not without a fairly deep background in the lore of this interesting system.

Of course, that isn't what gets you. It's the middle of the line. . . . This, and the two backs, Tony Butkovich, once of Illinois, and Stan Dubicki. With the Isbell-coached passing out of the "T," the running of the above pair is made all the more effectual, and as the attack gains further variety in the games to come (as it should), they figure to improve in proportion.

The Burnham "T" in fact, was somewhat rudimentary at Great Lakes. It had the man-in-motion, old style, which means that he was running nowhere with the team. The Burnham "T" didn't use the pass from a running play, either.

Seconds Not Bad
The first and second backfields (Burnham used the Rockne device of substituting an entire team) were not too far apart in ability, but the second line falls off too sharply . . . or seemed to.

The proper measure of a man is the amount of gloating he does when the dictionary proves him right.

MARTY SEGEDI WINS GOLF TITLE

Ellwood City Golfer Annexes County Championship For Second Time

Martin Segedi, of Ellwood City, one of the top-notch golfers of Western Pennsylvania, won the county golf championship at Sylvan Heights course, on Sunday, when he defeated Fred Palmer of this city, 4 and 3.

Segedi was right in form, shooting a sub-par round of 71 on the first 18 holes, and continued in the same fashion to coast home during the second round.

At the close of the match, Segedi was presented with a beautiful individual trophy cup by Manager Sam Haycock of Sylvan Heights.

Although finalist a number of times during the past ten years, Segedi has won the title only twice, winning out in 1941. Last year, he took Stan Bukowski, Slippery Rock State Teachers College ace for 42 holes, before Bukowski finally got the advantage and won.

Past champions are as follows: M. K. Gilliland, 1930; 31; William M. Nunn, 1932 and 33; Emil "Mose" Manone, 1934 and 35; Jimmy Smith, 1936; Willie Grommes, 1937; Emil Grommes, 1938 and 39; Frank Mogy, 1940; Marty Segedi, 1941; Stan Bukowski, 1942; and Segedi again this year.

Joe Smith, of Ellwood City, and E. H. Browning, of New Castle, are finalists of the second flight, and will play for the title next Sunday.

Ray Matthews won the third flight title, defeating Frank Morelli for this honor.

OLMO FAST
Luis Olmo, new outfielder of the Dodgers, has a powerful throwing arm and is fast on the bases.

Jim Wilson Says He Won't Resign

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Jimmie Wilson today denied reports that he plans to resign in the near future as manager of the Chicago Cubs.

Returning to Chicago with the club for the season's final 16-game home stand, Wilson asserted: "I'm staying on the job until my contract expires December 21. What occurs after that, I don't know."

Cubs Owner P. K. Wrigley and General Manager Jim Gallagher have both said nothing will be done about the managerial job until the season ends.

(International News Service)
LLANERCH, Pa., Sept. 21.—Thirty qualified golfers begin match play today at the Llanerch Country club for the annual Philadelphia P.G.A. title.
Sam Byrd was a leading contender after the former New York Yankee star turned in spectacular rounds of 69 and 66 to win the medal in yesterday's qualifying round. Byrd racked up seven birdies in the afternoon round, for a six-under-par tally of 66, pacing a field of contenders which shattered par 15 times.
Pine Valley's George Fazio also carded a 66 and totaled 136 in morning and afternoon rounds to take runner-up position. Charles Schneider, Lu Lu Temple pro, ended up in third place with a 68 and 71 for 139.

Grid Season Rolls In High Saturday

Pitt Plays Host To Notre Dame; Ohio State Faces Mighty Iowa Hawks

Collegiate football rolls in high Saturday with practically all the big time schools removing the lid. One of the highlights of next week-end, when the season really gets under way, will be a Sunday game between Dartmouth's Navy-powered eleven and Holy Cross.

On Saturday, Notre Dame will make its debut for the season with a potentially great eleven against Pitt in the latter's stadium and both Army and Navy will swing into action. The Cadets entertain Villanova at West Point and the Middies take on North Carolina Navy at Annapolis.

Rochester, which beat Baldwin-Wallace before giving Yale its romp, seeks to make it three in a row against Colgate while another eastern attraction will put Princeton against Penn.

George Vs. L. S. U.

Down in Dixie, the Georgia eleven which beat Presbyterian, will tackle Louisiana State on Friday night and Georgia Tech will open against North Carolina. Wake Forest will meet Camp Davis and in the south-west Southern Methodist will get going against Tulsa, or vice versa.

The Mid-West program includes Michigan vs. Western Michigan, Iowa vs. Great Lakes, Northwestern vs. Indiana, Missouri vs. Minnesota, Ohio State vs. Iowa Pre-Flight and Purdue vs. Marquette.

On the coast California tangles with St. Mary's, Southern California meets U. C. L. A. and Washington will prepare for bigger things in a clash with Whitman.

IMPRESSIVE RECORD

In six years of coaching the 150-pound football team at Princeton, Harry Mahan, present varsity coach, won five intercollegiate titles.

DON HUTSON'S BROTHER KILLED IN PACIFIC ZONE

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Sept. 21.—Flight Officer Robert P. Hutson, brother of Don Hutson, one of professional football's greatest stars, was killed in action, it was learned in Pine Bluff today.

In a telegram to Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hutson of Pine Bluff, the War department revealed that Robert, previously reported missing in action in the Southwest Pacific war zone, had been killed.

Robert Hutson was all-state quarterback at Pine Bluff during high school days in 1938 and 1939 and played at Alabama until his enlistment.

POST WAR PLAN

Corporal Elmer L. Maderik of Chanute Field, Ill., will play for the Detroit Lions pro football club after the war, Chanute Field Wings says. In 1941 as left halfback for the University of Detroit Maderik gained more than 1500 yards and was declared football's third ranking ground gainer.

NOW AT VILLANOVA

Chuck Cherundolo, former Penn State and pro football star, is now located at Villanova college. Chuck is a chief specialist in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

TEMPLE OPENS SEASON FRIDAY

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Bob Lange will probably call Temple's plays when the Owls open their gridiron season with V. M. I. at Temple stadium Friday night.
The former St. Joseph (Philadelphia) high star rates best among Coach Ray Morrison's candidates for a blocking back. Other leading candidates for berths in the first string backfield include Pinky Wood, Len Lesavage, Sid Roche, and Tony Hubka.

Oregon Quits 1943 Football

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 21.—The University of Oregon has tossed up the football sponge for 1943.
Athletic Manager Anse Cornell notified members of the northern division, Pacific Coast conference, the Oregon war time gridiron structure was too shaky to stick to their schedule of games.
What effect Oregon's withdrawal will have on the football destinies of Washington, Oregon State, Washington State and Idaho remains to be seen.
Discouragement became apparent on the Oregon campus when only 16 men responded to the first football practice session.

Milk Price Boost To Consumer Not To Get Approval

Such Is Hint From O.P.A. To State As Increase Is Being Considered

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—A representative of the Office of Price Administration hinted Monday that the federal agency will not approve the increase of two and three cents a quart for milk which the state milk control commission is considering.

"Consumers don't have much to fear," said Miss Rose Daniels, attorney for the Harrisburg district O. P. A.

Miss Daniels had been quoted on Thursday at a commission hearing as stating the O. P. A. "may... go along part of the way" in revising prices but she explained that what she had in mind was a price increase to dairy farmers and not to consumers. Presumably the increase would come through a federal subsidy which would not affect retail prices.

Meanwhile, the milk control commission went ahead with its plans for issuing orders increasing retail milk prices. Chairman John M. McKee stated last week that the orders would be issued soon, probably Oct. 1, and that it would then be up to the O. P. A. to decide whether they should become effective.

The commission's orders would increase consumer prices two cents in the Scranton, Erie, southwestern and Pittsburgh milk marketing areas and three cents in the northwestern area. The commission, in announcing the proposed increases 10 days ago, said they were necessary because of what it termed "the imperative need to return to dairy farmers a higher price for their milk in order to meet the cost of production in the hope of avoiding a serious drop in the supply of milk."

Rebuilt Niagara To Be Preserved

Will Be Preserved At Erie; Relic Of Battle Of 130
Years Ago

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 21.—One hundred thirty years ago this month—September 10 to be exact—Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry won the first decisive battle of the War of 1812 when his fleet bested the British armada on Lake Erie. Perry commanded the battle from his flagship the "Niagara."

Now the "Niagara," rebuilt for the second time as to detail, is to find a permanent berth this autumn and be preserved as a heroic and important memento of that battle that swept the British from the Great Lakes.

For several years the work of reconstructing the "Niagara" has been under way. This autumn or early winter it will be moved from the shores of the lake at Presque Isle, where it has been under reconstruction, to a temporary anchorage on vacant lots west of the public docks at the foot of State street. Later a permanent concrete cradle will be built on which the old vessel will rest. It has been reconstructed entirely along the lines of the original ship with the exception of the rigging which will later be added. Old cannon—some of them that saw duty on the ship in the battle with the British—and other accoutrements will be placed on the vessel. The two lots on which the "Niagara" will rest were provided by the city of Erie and deeded to the commonwealth.

The last session of the legislature appropriated $10,000 toward the moving of the old ship to the foot of State street and for its upkeep.

The "Niagara," which was Perry's flagship and one of his fleet of a half dozen or more boats in the battle, was originally constructed of timbers felled on the shores of the lake in the early part of 1813. The original vessel sank to the bottom of the lake in 1833 where it lay for 80 years. It was raised with many of the original timbers intact and reconstructed in 1943 when it made trips to lake ports during the centennial celebration of the battle and observance of the 100 years of peace.

For years the old ship has been a great attraction to tourists and vacationists at Erie.

Commodore Perry's cryptic message to General Harrison following that battle, says the Department of Commerce, is akin to similar phrases coined during our present conflict. Perry wrote: "We have met the enemy and they are ours. Two ships, two brigs, one schooner and one sloop. O. H. Perry."

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

Within the next few days group leaders of all branches of OCD will receive a request from city headquarters that they should comply with certain regulations that have been affixed as the duties of group leaders.

There are some persons in OCD who have apparently decided the war is over and there is no further need for the civilian defense set-up.

The United States army, through its instructing officers, who participated in a conference held at Beaver, last week are requesting an expansion of OCD in all its branches, and closer co-operation of all persons concerned.

They stressed very strongly the continuance of Civilian Defense work and on a larger scale than previous. The officers explained those in attendance reasons for the expansion of all those groups through charts and pictures, along with statistics.

These of course cannot be brought to our city, but we will attempt to relay most of this information to groups at your next group meeting. All the city OCD requests of a group leader or assistant group leader is to let us know when your next meeting is, so that we can arrange to be present.

Those groups that are undermanned should be brought to full strength as soon as possible.

In the Fire Guard service we want at least 15 persons in each sector. That will be changed over to Fire Guards, it will not be a very big job if each person in your group will contact one prospective Fire Guard, and get him started in a training class.

Training classes are being conducted in most all parts of our city, and a telephone call to this office will give you time and place of these classes.

First aid class is being held at Post 6-2, Sanson street, at 8 p. m., Wednesday with Dick Morgan as instructor.

Can Register For Night Classes Yet

Registration for war training classes in New Castle has been continued through tonight and Thursday from 7 to 10 o'clock in the Senior high school, Dr. E. A. Metcalf, director of the engineering, science and management war training program said today.

The tuition-free classes are given by Carnegie Institute of Technology through Westminster college to prepare men and women for essential positions in war industries. Westminster is offering courses in engineering drafting and qualifying mathematics.

RELIGIOUS WEEK

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—Gov. Edward Martin announced today that Sept. 26 to Oct. 3 has been designated as religious education week and victory through unity week.

The chief executive urged everyone to participate in observing the week by renewing their religious affiliations and by "spreading the spirit of good-will and tolerance which will aid in hastening the day of universal peace."

SAYS PATTON'S ARMY NEVER MADE RETREAT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21.—Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's American Seventh Army, from the time it landed on the Sicilian beaches, never retreated even for a moment, but hacked out steady advances against stubbornly resisting German troops, Sergeant Anthony Di Maria, a Pittsburgh doughboy, writing from "Somewhere in Sicily," says:
"Never have we retreated, always moving forward, slow but sure."
Di Maria, who landed with the first wave of Yanks, enjoyed a great advantage over his buddies throughout the campaign in that he understands Italian and was able to converse with the natives.

He says, according to his former employer, M. K. Reno, service manager of an automobile company here, who received the V-mail, that the Sicilians were "delighted" at the sight of the jolly, carefree American and British troops after living under German occupation.

The sergeant also has a good word for the co-operation and support displayed by the Allied navies and air forces in the invasion operations.
"Boy, what a show it was! Picture about 3,000 craft of all sizes and descriptions, planes of all types firing and zooming around. Great shells from battleships and cruisers tearing through the air, machine guns... thousands of doughboys hitting the beach on the run and fighting... all that going on at the same time."

MEXICO SEEKING FRENCH ISLAND

(International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 21.—The Mexican senate today had a petition urging that steps be taken for acquiring the tiny French island of Clipperton, 450 miles southwest of the Pacific port of Acapulco.

The petition was sent the chamber by 20 Mexican senators who contended "the time has gone by for a European flag to fly over an American possession."

The two-by-three mile island would provide Mexico with a naval and air base, the senators believed, and they called for study of legalities involved in its acquisition.

WOUNDED BY BULLET

GROVE CITY, Sept. 21.—Betty Mathieson, 15, is in a local hospital with a bullet wound in her leg as the result of an unusual accident. The bullet was fired from a small calibre rifle by a neighbor, Ray Cornelius, 17, who told police he was shooting at rats in the garage. The bullet traveled through a one-inch one board, crossed the highway, and struck Miss Mathieson. Her injury was not serious.

LONG on Expenses? SHORT of Cash?

TODAY'S increased cost-of-living and the new Pay-As-You-Go Tax leave a lot less from each pay check for everyday needs. And when expenses like dental and medical care, house repairs or insurance premiums come along, they put a dent in the budget. In such cases, have you ever considered the advantages of a Personal loan? It provides $10 to $250 or more repayable in sensible monthly amounts.

Loans at Personal are arranged simply and privately on your furniture, auto or signature. Co-signers are seldom required. To get a loan, come in, phone or write.
